NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—One of the strongest buying movements of the new year carried dozens of important issues into new high ground on the stock market today, following announcement of another gold shipment from London.

It was stated that Federal Reserve brokers' loans will probably show a new record above $5,400,000,000 when announced after the close of the market tomorrow, traders were less disposed to work over brokers' loans than a previous week, as the banks have been paying off their indebtedness at the reserve institutions, and a higher rediscount rate is regarded as highly unlikely with gold again starting to flow from London.

The gold shipment of $5,000,000 comes upon the heels of a shipment of $2,500,000, the first since autumn, announced yesterday. The fact that Montagu Norman, Governor of the Bank of England, said for New York today, gave rise to reports that he would confer with Federal Reserve officials as to means to stem the flow of the yellow metal in this direction.

An outgoing gold movement which would exceed in volume the market offerings in London would be regarded with misgivings.

It is London, and Federal Reserve authorities are understood to oppose a flow of gold to New York which would embarrass the Bank of England or start another orgy of stock speculation.

A New York Exchange seat was today at a new record price of $25,000, an advance of $500 over the previous sale.

News is Bullish Nameley.

Gold money again renewed at 6 per cent, but the tone was firmer than yesterday, when it was available in the outside as low as 5 per cent time money remained firm.

The day's news was largely bull, sending the long predicted rise of 1 cent in copper prices to 11 cents per pound, domestic, S. S. Kresge Co. declared a stock dividend of 50 per cent. Iron Age reported that further advances in steel scrap prices and pressure for shipments on finished steel stand well as market developments of the week, although its composite finished steel price remained unchanged. The composite price for iron sagged 4 cents to $18.42 a ton.

Mid-grade stocks throughout the list developed strength in the first three hours or so.

Commission house customers' houses were crowded, and the pub-lic was said to be in the market again in large way.

Chemical shares leaped forward, Union Carbide mounting 13 points to a record price at 222, but falling back to 214½. Allied Chemical jumped 10 points to a new high of 231. Adams Express sold up 13 points.

U. S. Steel mounted about 2 points, fell back 4, then again started forward. General Motors (GM) went forward more than 5 points. Greene Cananeca led the uppers with a spurt of over 9 points, and American Smelting mounted more than 3. International Nickel surged ahead. It was announced that stock of more than 1 per cent of the voting power of the merger plan.

Utility Develop Strength. International Telephone, Electric Power and Light, Consolidated Gas, Columbia Gas and Electric, and Brooklyn Union Gas mounted about 2 to 3 points. The Canadian Pacific mounted more than 7 points, while Delaware & Hudson, New York Central and St. Louis Southwestern climbed 2 points and more.

National Cash Register, General Electric, Westinghouse Electric, Johns-Manville, and Montgomery Ward were among issues climbing from 2 to 8 points. Great North-

THREE U. S. MARINES SLAIN BY NICARAGUAN REBEL BAND

Privates Killed When Patrol of Seven Men Clashes With Force in Northern Sector of Country.

By Associated Press.

MANAGUA, Jan. 23.—Latest advices from northern Nicaragua state that three marines were killed when a patrol of seven clashed with a band northeast of Yali in the Department of Jinotega on Monday.

Those killed were Privates Everett A. Rector of Des Moines, Ia., whose death had previously been reported; Rastus Collins of Lyons, Ga., and George T. Osswell of Miami, Fla.

First word of Rector's death was brought to Marine headquarters by a messenger yesterday. Additional advices received today told of the deaths of the two others. Only meager details have been received of the clash.

Steps toward declaring martial law in the northern departments are being taken by the Nicaraguan authorities. The training of volunteers for service in the region is going on rapidly.

It was presumed that a marine patrol encountered the insurgents in the jungle far from a telegraph line.

(Dr. Francisco Mairrena, surgeon

for the insurgent forces of Gen.

Augustino Sandino, said in Honduras last week that the General was planning a big offensive in Nicaragua. About the same time President Moncada of Nicaragua turned down a peace proposal from Sandino which urged that the northern department of Nueva Segovia be separated from Nicaragua and turned over to the rebel leaders.)

After word of the killing had been received the Nicaraguan Senate adopted a resolution declaring martial law in Jinotega, Nueva Segovia, Matagalpa and Esteli. Deputations have been committed recently on coffee plantations in the region. The resolution has yet to be passed by the Chamber of Deputies.

The last previous clash occurred on Jan. 10, in Nueva Segovia, when Lieut. William H. Smith, an American medical officer, was wounded and two native guards were killed. In the same district, on Dec. 6, Gunnery Sgt. Charles Williams of Astoria, N. Y., was killed in an encounter with a band of marauders when he was hit by a stray bullet.

Sheriff Oren Coleman of Williamson County, who opposed Charlie Birger's gang of Southern Illinois gunmen from the day he took office in 1926, testified today that Arlie O. Boswell, recently State's Attorney of the county, neglected his official duties and failed to co-operate in the enforcement of law.

Coleman was the fiftieth Government witness to take the stand in the Federal Court at East St. Louis at the trial of Boswell, former Congressman George Bell and three others on charges of conspiracy to violate the national prohibition act. Bootleggers and gangsters have testified that Boswell received "protection money" while in office.

Coleman, a big-bodied university graduate with a precise vocabulary, declared he advised Boswell to request National Guard protection for the primary election of April, 1926, when six men were killed in a riot at Herrin, and that Boswell did nothing. On the day he took office, Coleman said, "Art Newman and Connie Ritter, Birger gangsters, visited him and engaged in friendly conversation; and later Boswell told him, 'Charlie Birger will be to you.'

Raided a Co-defendant.

In February, 1927, he said, he helped gang murders with Boswell and asked him for his co-operation, but never received any assistance from the State's Attorney.

Coleman described a raid he had in December, 1926, at a still operated by Pete Salmo, co-defendant with Boswell in the case on trial. Salmo, he said, offered him $500 to leave him un molested and remarked, "It's all right with Boswell." Coleman related that Salmo was indicted, but that Boswell delayed the trial until July by finding a defect in the indictment he had prepared. Salmo was fined $1,000.

"Once in 1927, Boswell came to my office and suggested that I go to Birger's home in Harrisburg and get some automobiles he believed were stolen cars," Sheriff Coleman related. "I asked him if he had issued warrants, but he had not. I refused to go, telling him I had no jurisdiction. He retorted, 'You're not yellow, are you?' and I replied, 'Well, you can call it if you want to, but I'm not going.'

In August, 1927, Coleman testified, Boswell dismissed a murder case against Chink Shaffer, Birger gangster. "I asked him why and he said he didn't have any evidence," Coleman related. "I told him I had plenty of evidence and knew where to get more. Boswell said, 'Till reinstate the case.' He never mentioned it again.

Raided With Bell Unsuccessful.

In February, 1927, he said, he helped gang murders with Boswell and asked him for his co-operation, but never received any assistance from the State's Attorney.

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—Former Gov. Alfred E. Smith's recent radio appeal for funds to wipe out the $1,500,000 deficit of the Democratic National Committee, thus far has brought in approximately $100,000 in contributions.

Not all the contributions have been tabulated, however. The committee has received about 15,000 letters and Smith himself has received 5000 letters.

By Associated Press.

BALTIMORE, Jan. 22.—Fred Swiger of Denver, Colo., returning to Baltimore after an absence of 25 years, killed his nephew, Thomas W. Cole, then shot himself to death in Cole's office in a local printing company.

Carroll Swiger, brother of Fred and an officer of the printing company of which Cole was manager, when questioned by police on the cause of the shooting, said: "I'll tell that later."

Coroner Reinhardt came to the conclusion that the shooting grew out of a real estate deal in which Fred Swiger thought he had been cheated by Cole. Police also had a theory that dissatisfaction with the will of his brother, William Swiger, one of the founders of the printing firm, who died in 1927, brought Fred Swiger to Baltimore.

Witnesses said Swiger threw open the door of Cole's office so violently as to attract attention. Cole rose from his desk and was shot before any words were exchanged except Cole's plea, "Don't do that." A package of poison was found in Fred Swiger's pocket.

50 Below Zero at Rocker, Mont.

By Associated Press.

DEERFIELD, Colo., Jan. 23.—Temperatures as low as 50 below zero at Rocker, Mont., were reported from the mountain regions today. Rock Springs, with 20 below zero, was the coldest spot in Wyoming. A heavy snowstorm swept the intermountain region, halting highway traffic and the air-mail and delayed trains in Utah, Idaho and Western Wyoming. Ten inches of snow had fallen at Salt Lake City. Utah sheepmen said serious losses to their flocks would result from drifting snow that had marooned thousands of sheep.

4,357,384 Cars Produced in 1928, an Increase of 50,000.

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—A new high production record was set by American automobile makers during 1928. The total output of machines for the year is reported by the Commerce Department to be 4,357,384. This was 50,000 machines greater than the previous record output reached in 1926, when 4,301,134 machines were turned out. The 1927 year's total, due largely to the shutdown of the Ford plant, was only 3,491,326.

Ford said he investigated the riot and prepared a long statement listing about 200 witnesses and the substance of what they knew. He presented the statement to Boswell, he said, but only about 242,382 cars, against the previous high record of 204,727 in 1926 and the 1927 output of 178,427.

Answers Mellon's Letter.

Speaking on the floor of the Senate today, Senator McKellar (Dem.), Tennessee, characterized Mellon's argument against the bill as "absurd" and "ridiculous." He declared the Board of Tax Appeals was singularly well equipped to handle such cases and that to transfer them to its jurisdiction would result in a saving of both time and money.

This assertion was fortified by Elaine (Rep.), Wisconsin, who said his investigation had shown that the addition of a few clerks and accountants would enable the board to handle the added cases without difficulty. Both he and McKellar derided Mellon's suggestion of delay, pointing out that under the present system the Government had paid $11,000,000 accrued interest on a refund of $15,- 000,000 to the Steel Corporation as a result of the delay in making it.

SAYS JOHNSTON'S WOMAN AID TRIED LIQUOR DIPLOMACY

Witness Avers Mrs. Hammonds, Governor's Secretary, Asked Him to Get Legislator Drunk.

WANTED HIM TO TELL IMPEACHMENT PLANS

O. P. Slack Also Asserts He Had Heard She Planned Putting Bottles in Coats of Lawmakers.

By the Associated Press.
OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan. 23.—Testimony that Mrs. O. O. Hammonds, confidential secretary to Henry S. Johnston, suspended Governor, had asked him to get a member of the Legislature with liquor in an effort to obtain information, was given before the House investigating committee today by O. P. Slack of Atoka, vice chairman of the State Fish and Game Department.

Slack said that on the eve of the attempt impeachment session of 1927, Mrs. Hammonds came to him and asked him to get Tom Johnson of Pushmataha County drunk and find out what members of the Legislature were for and who against the administration. Johnson was one of the four outstanding leaders of the session.

The task was delegated to W. T. Hunt, a clerk in Slack's department, after Slack had told Mrs. Hammonds he was afraid he would get "as drunk as Johnson," the vice chairman testified.

Hunt reported that Representative Johnson did not drink, but returned with a list purporting to show the standing of members. Slack said.

He denied that Mrs. Hammonds had suggested that liquor be placed in the desks or coats of some members of the attempted session and then have the members searched by officers, but said he had "heard rumors of it."

Sixth Charge Voted.

The Oklahoma House of Representatives yesterday voted a sixth impeachment charge against Gov. Johnston, who was suspended from office by the State Senate Monday.

The sixth article of impeachment charges the illegal employment by Gov. Johnston of Kirby Fitzpatrick, formerly of Ardmore, as special attorney for the State Banking Department.

W. B. Graham, former auditor for the State Highway Department, first mentioned Mrs. Hammonds to U. S. Senate investigating committee which is tracing reports of corruption in connection with last winter's impeachment attempt. He related that she at one time shook her fist in the Governor's face and commanded him to "be quiet." Graham testified the incident occurred during a conference in the office of J. R. Armstrong, political adviser of the Governor and uncle of Mrs. Hammonds.

L. K. Ford, mechanical engineer, testifying before the House investigating committee, declared he saw an envelope containing money passed to Mrs. Hammonds by a woman who was charged with negotiating for the aid of her purported influence with the administration. The system should be ended."

Editor First State Witness.
Carl Magee, Oklahoma City editor and the first witness called by the Senate Committee, gave the committee a list of names of persons with whom he had talked regarding reports he published concerning rumors that money had influenced Senators to change their vote and terminate the attempted impeachment session of the legislature after members of the House had voted six charges against Gov. Johnston.

H. Tom Kight, antislavery leader of the House and one of the active participants in the 1927 session, said he had heard $25,000 was sent here by J. J. McGraw, late Tulsa banker and former National Republican Committeeman, for expenses of the session. This fund was diverted to a movement to end the session, Kight said he understood, because McGraw was informed the State gross production tax on oil would be suspended if the impeachment move was thwarted.

C. E. Beckman, contractor who had constructed State highways, was quoted by Pat Henry, candidate for chairman of the Oklahoma County Democratic Committee, as saying after the session had adjourned abruptly, that he had collected money from various contractors for the Governor's defense.

of scandal under such a system were too obvious for comment.

In the Steel Corporation case he related the 1917 tax was audited and readited at least five times. To the original assessments $17,000,000 was added. Subsequently two men who had been employed in the office where the reassessment was made, resigned and accepted retainers from the Steel Corporation to obtain a refund. They obtained a refund of $15,000,000 plus $1,000,000 interest.

Senator Swanson (Dem.), Virginia, interrupted to declare: "One of the worst aspects of this situation, in my opinion, is the reckless, lawless way in which they assess people, and then keep interminably reopening the accounts, forcing them to hire lawyers to defend themselves against reassessments."

McKellar read a list of the cash refunds granted under Secretary Mellon during the last eight years, totaling approximately $1,000,000, and a list of the credits granted during the last six years, which total more than $1,600,000. He estimated that the credits for the first two years of Mellon's administration at $600,000,000, which would bring the total amount turned back to the taxpayers in one form and another to more than $2,000,000,000.

Senator Smoot (Rep.), Utah, who undertook to defend the Treasury's cause, asked McKellar if he intended to impute dishonesty against any particular members of the department.

"Done in the Dark." McKellar replied: "What I object to is the infamous system of secrecy which surrounds the payment of these assessments of public money. In the eight years that Mellon has been Secretary of the Treasury he has paid out of the treasury an amount greater than the value of all the real and personal property contained in the states of Louisiana, Kentucky or Alabama. It is all done in the dark. Not even Congress, which appropriates the money, is permitted to know what goes on. I say that the possibilities of abuse under such a system are appalling to contemplate. The system should be ended."

Robinson inquired what excuse the Treasury offered for the repeated audits and reassessments of the same accounts. McKellar said various reasons were given.

Glass interposed to say that such numerous changes in single assessments seemed to constitute a trifling indictment of the efficiency of the department.

Mellon's Letter.

The burden of Mellon's letter opposing the McKellar proposal was that someone had to be trusted to make refunds honestly, and that nothing had happened to warrant distrust of the Treasury Department. He said that the transfer to the Board of Tax Appeals of all refunds and credits in excess of $10,000 would overwhelm the board with work and would change its character.

The Secretary did not touch on the question of secrecy. He omitted any mention of the provision in the bill which would compel the department to submit to Congress an annual list of all credits and refunds of more than $500. He said:

"In all the recent discussion in Congress and elsewhere there has been no suggestion that refunds were being made dishonestly. Why, then, should the administrative duty now imposed on the Commissioner of Internal Revenue be virtually transferred to the Board of Tax Appeals? What reason is there to believe that a member of this board is better fitted to pass upon these administrative problems than the Commissioner of Internal Revenue?"

Objects to Review.

"A stable government must rest upon the confidence of its people. High administrative officers must be entrusted with responsibility and on their good faith, proven by the test of time, the people must rest. Responsibility must be placed somewhere under our taxation system. Obviously it should be placed in those high administrative officers whose positions were created

FOUR INQUIRIES IN CRASH IN WHICH 19 LOST LIVES

Both Motorman of Interurban and Driver of Bus Wrecked in Collision Near Bellevue, O., Say They Took Safety Precautions.

By the Associated Press.

BELLEVUE, O., Jan. 23.—The total number of deaths in yesterday's crash between a Greyhound bus and a Lake Shore electric interurban car near here in a blinding snowstorm mounted to 19 today with the death of Richard Freeman, 29 years old, of Cleveland, O.

The 22 passengers on the bus 19 were killed and 12 injured, two seriously that they may die. Four investigations of the accident are under way. Coroner Bell of Huron County, assisted by Edward Martin, County Prosecutor, is conducting one. Both motorman and bus driver declare they observed the usual safety precautions.

Harry Rimmelsbach, claimant, who is making the inquiry for the Lake Shore Electric Railway, declares Fred Schuyler, the motorman, had slowed his car before reaching the crossing.

The State is making an investigation under the direction of H. M. Evans, inspector of the railroad department of the Ohio Utilities Commission, assisted by L. C. Smith, chief of the bus division of the Commission.

"Done in the Dark." McElroy, of Toledo, Ohio, asked: "What I object to is the infamous system of secrecy which surrounds the payment of these assessments of public money. In the eight years that Mellon has been Secretary of the Treasury he has paid out of the treasury an amount greater than the value of all the real and personal property contained in the states of Louisiana, Kentucky or Alabama. THREE SHIPS SEND DISTRESS CALL IN GALE; ONE IS LOST

Rescue Vessel Fails to Find Trace of British Freighter With 30 Aboard Off Cape Race, N. F.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—The steamship America reported by radio at 11 o'clock this morning that she was so close to the disabled freighter Florida that the latter's wireless signals were very strong. The liner President Harrison had previously reported that she could not find the Florida.

The America said that the tanker Dannedalke, also in distress in the same general vicinity—890 miles off the Virginia Capes—had set up a jury rig and was attempting to make Bermuda under her own steam.

Heading for Florida.

The United States lines steamer America reported at 2:29 p. m. today that she was heading for the crippled freighter Florida on radio bearings and expected to reach her at 6 o'clock this evening.

Shortly after Capt. Fried's message a wireless was received from the German steamer Yorck saying that she had abandoned the search for the Florida and that the President Harrison, the third big ship to start to the rescue, had continued to port because of lack of fuel.

Search for the British freighter Teesbridge with its crew of 30 was abandoned when rescue vessels could find no trace of the ship 300 miles east of Cape Race, N. F.

Floating a slow passage through the storm, three ships struggled toward the Dannedalke and the Florida.

Rudder and Life Boats Gone.

The Florida was the first to send an SOS, saying the rudder was gone and the life boats smashed.

A few minutes later came the call for help from the Dannedalke, which gave no details of the trouble, only saying the ship needed help at once. Its position was already 50 miles from that given by the Florida.

The Teesbridge, bound from Fowey, England, for Philadelphia, sent out an SOS Sunday. The freighter Maine of the Atlantic Transport Line responded. Reaching the position given by the Teesbridge, Capt. J. T. Hutchinson searched in vain for the ship and its life boats, then resumed his voyage yesterday.

The account of his search was sent to the line offices in a message.

HAYES USES ALIBI DEFENSE IN TRIAL FOR GANG KILLING

Witnesses Testify in Gunner's Behalf After Woman Accuses Him of Part in Two Murders.

ONE SAYS HE SAW SHOOTING ON LOT

Dennis Haggerty Tells of Fight Last July 25, and Asserts Accused Man Was Not Present.

An attempt to present an alibi for Tommy Hayes, Cuckoo gangster on trial at Clayton for a gang murder, and to impeach the character of the State's principal witness, Mrs. Dorothy Wood, were the opening moves of the defense today, after the State had rested at the opening of the trial.

Five defense witnesses were introduced during the forenoon. One said he was a witness to the shooting of Mike Longo, Italian gangster, who was slain with James Russo last July 25, and from whose body the murder charge against Hayes arises. This witness admitted on cross-examination that he had been living with Hayes' parents recently.

Another witness was a young woman who said she intended to marry Hayes, a third was her father, the fourth was a former official of the Sheriff's office who had been accused in the trial of intimacy with Hayes, and the fifth was the proprietor of a soft-drink car on the Olive Street road.

Says He Witnessed Shooting.

Dennis Puggerity, 37 years old, who said he was a teamster, and gave his address as 6322 Etzel, ave., testified he was sitting on the rear porch of Roy Schooley's home, when Longo and Russo were killed. Schooley, a former St. Louis County attorney, is under suspicion for bank robbery and has an appeal pending in the case.

Haggerty said he had been there about an hour when I saw an automobile drive into the vacant next door, and two men alighted. He recognized one of the men as Russo, he said. The pair played catch with a baseball for a time, he claimed, until another car drove by and two men alighted from it, and picked a quarrel with Russo and his companion.

Russo and his companion drew guns, Haggerty said, and at that point two more men alighted from a second automobile. One of the men had a submachine gun, he stated. At this, the witness said, Russo's gun went off, and he heard several shots after the shooting emerged from his hiding place to see Russo and his companion dead on the ground.

Says Hayes Wasn't There.

Haggerty said he had known Hayes for several years, and from a view of the four assailants, was certain that Hayes was not among them. He heard the group talking in a foreign language that he took to be Italian, he said.

On cross-examination Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Noble brought out the fact that Hayes had served a prison sentence for larceny and had received several jail sentences, but did not recall the number, or the nature of the misdemeanors charged against him.

Mark Dodd, Chief Deputy Sheriff Wilmus, testified he and known Mrs. Wood for seven or eight years and said that her reputation for veracity was bad. Mrs. Wood testified yesterday that Hayes telephoned her a short time after the shooting, remarked he had been talking to Dodd about the killing, and said, "There's nothing to it."

Hayes' Fiancée on Stand.

Mrs. Isabelle Silvey, 6328 Elmwood, testified that Mrs. Wood had telephoned her many times and had threatened to send Hayes to the penitentiary or the gallows if she could not have him. Asked cross-examination if she intended to marry Hayes, she blushed after some hesitation, replied the affirmative.

Mrs. Silvey's father, who said he is Thomas Fulgham, also of the same address, testified that Wood visited his daughter at least three or four days before she was arrested, charged with murder.

John J. Reagan, 1119 Bechtel, University City, proprietor of a soft drink bar at 7211 Olive road, swore he had known Wood for 10 years and that her reputation was bad.

Says Pale Stayed at Hotel.

Mrs. Fannie Russell, day clerk at the Bristol Hotel, 5659 Pershing road, identified Mrs. Wood as the woman who registered at the hotel Sept. 6 as "Mrs. Williams," who returned later and asked that the register be changed to "Mrs. Rogers." Mrs. Russell said she saw Mrs. Wood in the hotel with Hayes Oct. 2, and asserted that Mrs. Wood told her of

MISS MARGARET E. MUDD

DAYTON H. MUDD JR.

"family trouble" with Hayes, which had been patched up. Hayes and Mrs. Wood were registered as "Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Hayes" at this time, the witness averred.

On cross-examination yesterday, Mrs. Wood denied ever having been at the Bristol Hotel with Hayes.

The first alibi testimony came from Lee Levy, proprietor of the Glennon Hotel at Kansas City, whom had with him hotel records showing that Thomas E. Hayes had been at the hotel from July 23 to 25, and had made numerous telephone calls July 24.

Following Levy, M. J. O'Donnell, 5920 Delmar boulevard, who said he was in the real estate business, testified that he accompanied Hayes to Kansas City "on business." O'Donnell said he was with Hayes in Kansas City until 1:30 p.m., July 25, when they left for St. Louis, arriving here at 9 p.m. Previous testimony had been that the killing occurred between 1:30 and 2 p.m., on the 25th.

Mrs. Wood Tells of Killing and Subsequent Threats.

A star witness for the State yesterday, Mrs. Wood entered the courtroom under guard of 12 Deputy Sheriffs and detectives, using Judge Nolte's private entrance to the room. She told of being warned by Hayes to "get out because we're going to kill a couple of dagoes and there'll be plenty of police around here."

She also asserted that she saw Hayes drive out of the vacant lot where the two men were killed a moment after a number of shots had been fired there. She said Hayes telephoned here that night, and said of the killing, "There's nothing to it. I was just telling him we're going to kill a couple of dagoes and everything's all right. The police are tickled to death to get rid of those guys."

Hayes warned that if she told the authorities what she knew of the case, she "wouldn't live 24 hours," she concluded.

Says Police Picketed House.

A. E. L. Gardner, defense lawyer, recalled on cross-examination that Police Captain Stinger had picked Mrs. Wood's lone son on Westminster place for several weeks some years ago, and asked her if it was not a fact that the roadside had been operated on the site of shooting was a disorderly resort. The witness denied it.

Gardner brought out that she had been away from St. Louis since her testimony before the grand jury, and upon her return a few weeks ago had taken up residence at the Broadview Hotel, East St. Louis. He asked her, upon the prompting of Hayes, if it was not a fact that she telephoned Miss Silvey and warned her, "to keep away from Tommy Hayes or he'll go to the penitentiary or the gallows."

I told them that I had not had a chance to examine it and had not impaneled a jury," he related. "They were so persistent that I took them to the State's Attorney's office, who upheld me in my decision. We agreed to let them have the body immediately after the inquest, which was done."

Court Sustains Testimony.

Defense counsel objected to Dr. Rabenbeck's testimony, but Judge Lindley ruled it would stand after Assistant United States Attorney Lesemann explained that he intended to show that Boswell sought to transfer the investigation and trial to his jurisdiction to protect himself from being involved in the prosecution.

Previously witnesses had testified that Boswell advised Birger to "get Lory Price out of the way."

He also admitted on cross-examination that he had served a prison sentence for larceny and had received several jail sentences, but did not recall the number, or the nature of the misdemeanors charged against him.

Mark Dodd, Chief Deputy Sheriff Wilmus, testified he and known Mrs. Wood for seven or eight years and said that her reputation for veracity was bad. Mrs. Wood testified yesterday that Hayes telephoned her a short time after the shooting, remarked he had been talking to Dodd about the killing, and said, "There's nothing to it."

Hayes' Fiancée on Stand.

Mrs. Isabelle Silvey, 6328 Elmwood, testified that Mrs. Wood had threatened to send Hayes to the penitentiary or the gallows if she could not have him. Asked cross-examination if she intended to marry Hayes, she blushed after some hesitation, replied the affirmative.

Mrs. Silvey's father, who said he is Thomas Fulgham, also of the same address, testified that Wood visited his daughter at least three or four days before she was arrested, charged with murder.

Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Noble indicated that the State will call the death penalty.

WOMEN PLAYING BRIDGE ROBBED OF $4610 IN FURS

Burglar Enters Home of Frank G. Harris, 6036 Westminster place, last night, while fur coats and other property valued by the owners at $4705 were stolen from another room.

A bridge party went on without interruption at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank G. Harris, 6036 Westminster place, last night, while fur coats and other property valued by the owners at $4705 were stolen from another room.

Loses were reported by the guests as follows: Mrs. George P. Vierher, 6174A Waterman avenue, $900 sealskin coat; Mrs. William G. Raith, 7132 Washington avenue, sealskin coat and scarf, $225; Mrs. F. W. Julier, 5502 Delmar boulevard, fur and scarf, $355. A watch and chain, valued at $70, and $25 cash, the property of Harris, also were stolen.

The thief is thought to be the same "bridge burglar" who has plundered several West End homes recently while the occupants were playing in another part of the house. Harris' home was robbed between 8 and 10:30 o'clock.

At the latter hour he discovered the door of a rear bedroom had been locked from the inside. Going into the back yard, he found the bedroom window was open. The thief apparently had entered through an insecure kitchen door, passed into the bedroom, locked the door and escaped through the window.

Grocer and Customer Robbed and Bound by Negro.

Three early morning holdups were reported to police today.

An armed Negro entered the grocery of Edward Raining, 3901 Cote Brilliante avenue, shortly before 7 o'clock, took $1 from the cash register and then tied Raining's hands and feet with a rope and put him in a rear room. Andrew Grill, 3324 Cote Brilliante avenue, entered the store while the Negro was tying Raining, was robbed of $10 and tied up along with Raining.

William Hunn, 3912 Cote Brilliante avenue, another customer, then came into the store and was robbed of $1 by the Negro, who fled without tying him.

An armed man, who entered Hodge's Restaurant, 814 Pine street, at 6 o'clock, held up two employees and escaped with $100 taken from the cash register.

Clifford Burnham, 715 Pine street, a Kroger store manager, reported he was held up by an armed man at the entrance of an alley in Seventh street, between Chestnut and Market, and robbed of $42. He was on his way to work.

Grocer Shot by Negro Who Escapes With $20.

Frank Cron, 35 years old, a grocer at 2900 Franklin avenue, was shot and slightly wounded by a Negro holdup man at 7:30 o'clock last night.

The Negro, after ordering eggs, drew a revolver and robbed Cron of $200. He was departing by the front door when, apparently fearing he was being followed, he turned and fired two shots at the grocer. One bullet struck Cron in the abdomen, inflicting a flesh wound.

Other holdups reported: Grocery of Adam Schneider, 2100 South Eleventh street, $25; grocery of Stanley Farnan, 3051 Cass avenue, $12; Standard Oil station at Nineteenth and Chestnut streets, $30.

Arthur Sjoholm, chauffeur for Mark Steinberg, stock and bond broker, was driving his own car at Pendleton avenue and Wash-

$100,000 AIRPORT LIGHTING SYSTEM TO BE DISCUSSED

Plans to Be Submitted to Board Are Designed of Principles of Railway Switch Tower.

Plans for a $100,000 lighting system for the city airport, Lambert-St. Louis Field at Bridgeton, will be submitted to the Air Board tomorrow at its meeting in the office of Director Salisbury of the Department of Public Welfare.

The plans, as explained today by the designers, George B. Heath and Charles G. Gonter of the city lighting division, are based on the principles of a railroad switch tower. Green lights will be used to signify a clear approach for aircraft, red lights to indicate obstructions, and violet lights will mark a takeoff at night.

Forty-eight boundary lights will be opalescent white, and will show the location of the field. Sixteen red flood lights will be supplemented by 20 obstruction lights of the same color, which will show when any of the four runways are obstructed at either end. It will be the duty of the operator in the tower to set the lights to the rear and right of the approaching aviator. A beacon light, on a concrete base seven feet high, will be of 8,000,000-bean candle power.

Losses were reported by the guests as follows: Mrs. George P. Vierher, 6174A Waterman avenue, $900 sealskin coat; Mrs. William G. Raith, 7132 Washington avenue, sealskin coat and scarf, $225; Mrs. F. W. Julier, 5502 Delmar boulevard, fur and scarf, $355. 50 MEXICANS SHOT DEAD IN POLITICAL RIOTS AT HIDALGO

One Hundred Wounded in Fights Between Opposing Factions in Gubernatorial Campaign.

By ARTHUR CONSTANTINE
Mexico City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and New York World.

Copyright, 1929, by the Press and Pulitzer Publishing Co. (41st New York World and Post-Dispatch.)

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 23.—Fifty persons were killed and 100 wounded in clashes between the opposing factions in the gubernatorial campaign in the State of Hidalgo, according to the list of casualties given out yesterday at the headquarters of Dr. Parres, one of the candidates. The majority of these casualties occurred last Sunday, which was election day.

The tabulation of dead and wounded issued by the pro-Parres headquarters failed to include the casualties in the smaller towns of the State. Complete returns, if ever available, are expected to add 20 or more dead and wounded to the totals.

The campaign was one of the bloodiest in the recent history of Mexico. Clashes occurred at almost every election rally. At one meeting when opponents of Dr. Parres began throwing chairs, the Parres men whipped out their pistols and began shooting. Firing instantly became general.

There were especially bloody encounters last Sunday at Ixmiquilpan and at Mixquiahuala on Dec. 20. Belated reports made public at Parres headquarters listed 20 killed in the election fighting at a Parres rally in the latter town. The mayor of Mixquiahuala was among the dead.

At Atonilco El Grande eight were killed when enemies of Dr.

Parres sought to ambush him. Gen. Arturo Trovino was among those who fell defending the candidate.

A few days later Dr. Parres was besieged at Cerro Colorado and Federal troops had to be called into action to rescue him and his body guard.

In anticipation of further trouble Federal garrisons in half a dozen places in the State have been heavily reinforced.

BOY CHASING BALL IN STREET KILLED BY A COAL TRUCK

Clarence F. Jackson, 15, Struck Down in East St. Louis—Driver Held on Bond Pending Inquest.

Clarence F. Jackson, 15 years old, 618 North Eighty-third street, East St. Louis, was killed at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon when he ran into the side of a coal truck while chasing a football, which bounded into the roadway at State and Eighty-ninth streets, East St. Louis.

The boy had been playing football with companions when one of them kicked the ball into the street and he set out in pursuit of it. A rear wheel of the truck passed over his body. He was pronounced dead at St. Mary's Hospital.

Charles Palmisano, 5741 Hamilton avenue, driver of the truck, was released on bond pending an inquest.

Mrs. Nina Groves, 4255 Loughborough avenue, suffered fractured ribs and internal injuries last night when an automobile driven by her husband, Oliver, collided with another machine at Broadway and Chestnut street and upset. Groves and Norman Stander, 7046 Fernand avenue, driver of the other car, escaped injury.

4000 ARRESTED, 3697 LET GO

Those Held After Chicago Roundup to Be Attended to Today.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

CHICAGO, Jan. 23.—Of the more than 4000 prisoners taken in Chicago's hoodlum roundup last week-end, only 303 remained in cells today. Police said these would be released by formal court discharge, penalized or identified and booked on specific charges before nightfall.

By far the largest number were held in the Detective Bureau, a check of the cells showing 192. Two hundred of these were to be arraigned in the South State Street Court on a disorderly conduct charge, and 41 others were to be sent to other courts.

Andrew J. Deeman Dies.

Andrew J. Deeman, former traffic manager of the Green Tree brewery, a founder and for many years the Grand Knight of Laclede Council, Knights of Columbus, died yesterday of heart disease. He was 61 years old and was at 3339 Harford street. He is survived by a daughter and a son who is a novice in the Jesuit order. Funeral services will be held at 8:30 a. m., Friday, at St. Pius' Church.

Film on Teeth... don't let it rob you of a fascinating smile

How to remove film—the question millions are asking. Now a special film-removing formula is urged by dentists. How the new way acts that is found by dental research to discolor teeth and foster serious tooth and gum disorders

"ISN'T there something I can do?" wrote a young woman recently. "I am so sensitive about my 'yellow' cloudy teeth. I brush them for hours only to meet with failure."

Today, three months later, she writes, "My teeth are as sparkling white and as lovely as those I used to envy... How awfully near I came to never knowing it."

Millions do not know

A tragic story with a happy ending.... There are thousands like this charming girl whose winning personalities are shadowed by one fault too many—unattractive teeth. So many never find it out.

Now science has discovered, 9 times in 10, the cause of "discolored" teeth is a dingy film that coats them. It is your greatest enemy to loveliness. It is a dangerous enemy to health, too, for film is held responsible for decay, pyorrhea, bleeding gums and numerous other troubles. Your dentist knows how true this is.

You must fight film

Feel for film with your tongue — a slippery, sticky coating. Food and smoking stain that film. Germs by the millions breed in it... germs of many different strains and various diseases.

Film hardens into tartar. And germs with tartar are the chief cause of pyorrhea. Film is also the basis of decay. Physicians agree a number of serious body ills are indirectly traced to film.

The special way to remove it

Ordinary brushing ways are not successful. You must employ the scientific method that first curdles film. Light brushing then can easily remove it in safety to enamel. Old ways may be discarded.

As children's teeth appear you marvel at their whiteness. Yours may once again regain that color. May take on a brilliance that is actually amazing. Lustreless dull teeth are known to be unnatural.

The danger of decay and pyorrhea is combated scientifically. In hundreds of thousands of cases under observation this way succeeds where ordinary brushing ways have failed.

Perhaps unattractive teeth have cost you too much in society and business. You must not delay another day in testing this method.

The Special Film-Removing Dentifrice

OPEN EVENINGS

Members of Medical Society
Object to Starkloff's Request to Report All Cases.

Members of the St. Louis Medical Society, who spoke at the last meeting of the organization agreed that a mild epidemic of "true" influenza, but without the violence of the 1918-1919 type, exists in St.
Louis.

Several took objection to Health
Commissioner Starkloff's insistence that physicians report all cases of influenza. They stated the general practitioner cannot definitely diagnose any case as influenza, because of the lack of sharply drawn characteristics.

"The ordinary physician," said one, "cannot carry a microscope around on his calls for blood counts and similar tests."

The agreement as to the existence of a local epidemic is in accord with the opinion broadcast by the United States Public Health Service, which stated that conditions similar to those of 1918-1919 were present in the nation, in mild form.

A clinical search for some characteristic which would differentiate influenza, made by Dr. Lawrence D. Thompson of Washington University, disclosed only unusual prostration as a note which influenza did not share with other illnesses, he disclosed. The prostration, he said, was disproportionate to the other symptoms. His findings were confirmed by Dr. Ralph Kinsella, who said similar conclusions had been reached in a test at St. Louis University.

Bacteriologists have been unable to isolate the bacillus which causes influenza, although the disease has attacked the human race since the sixteenth century, and perhaps earlier. The Pfeiffer bacillus, known commonly as "influenza bacillus" and the basis for the ordinary vaccine, is not the true bacillus, according to an opinion given by Dr. Jacques Bronfenbrenner, Washington University bacteriologist.

Sage Tea Puts Color in Gray Hair

By LOIS PAIGE

I am heartily in favor of the woman who refuses to be aged by gray hair. It is every woman's right, even her duty, to retain her youthfulness and attractiveness as long as she can.

When a woman asks me about coloring her gray, faded or streaked hair I say, "Go ahead," and tell her the secret of sage tea and sulphur.

A brew of common garden sage tea and sulphur has the power to restore gray or faded hair to full life and color. You can either prepare the mixture at home or buy it already prepared and ready to use. The name of the prepared article is Wyeth Sage and Sulphur, and since it costs only 75¢ a bottle at any drug store, there is really no need to go to the bother of preparing it yourself.

You simply moisten a comb or soft brush and draw it through your hair, one strand at a time. Done at night, morning sees the gray gone; another application or two and your hair is once again the color and lustre of youth and you appear years younger. The whole effort is one of perfect naturalness.

By the Associated Press
NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—The liner President Garfield which

MRS. HIGBEE'S NEPHEW AND LAWYER TESTIFY

Say She Was of Sound Mind—Financed "Christ Saves" Electric Sign on Church.

Only two witnesses were heard yesterday during the six-hour court day in the trial of the contest by Mrs. Joseph Pulitzer of the will of her aunt, Mrs. Fannie H. Higbee, who left an estate of $1,341,960. They were James A. Seddon, former attorney for Mrs. Higbee, who drew a succession of wills and codicils for her, but not the final will, and Benjamin G. Chapman Jr., of 58 Kingsbury place, her nephew and executor, who managed her financial affairs during the last years of her life.

Their testimony was similar to that given by them in depositions, as reported in the Post-Dispatch a year ago, and had to do with Mrs. Higbee's disposition of her property and the way in which it was managed for her. It is contended Mrs. Higbee was of unsound mind and unduly influenced when she made her will.

Under the rules of court procedure in a will contest, the defendants present a case first, as proponents of the will, and then the contestants attack it. Accordingly, counsel for the chief heirs under the will, who are the principal defendants, offered proof of the validity of the last will on Monday, after a jury was chosen in Circuit Judge Falkenhaler's court.

Reading in court of a will prepared for Mrs. Higbee in 1918 by Seddon disclosed that it was she who paid for the large electric sign, "Christ Saves," erected prior to that time on the roof of the Washington-Compton Presbyterian Church, Compton avenue and Washington boulevard. That will provided a fund to maintain the sign as long as a Presbyterian church was there, but the congregation went to the West End and a Negro group moved in the Tabernacle Baptist Church. The sign remains. Seddon declared that Mrs. Higbee was of sound mind and of mentality above the average.

Chapman, in his testimony, said his aunt had shown him one of her wills in 1918 and asked what he thought of the legacies, but he felt it was not his business to comment on them. He related that it made legacies of $100 each to Mrs. Pulitzer and her sisters, but that later, through his suggestion, Mrs. Higbee increased their bequests to the final figure of $5,000 each. Mrs. Higbee's last will left the bulk of her estate to her sister, Mrs. Louisa H. Chapman of Detroit, and the latter's three children, including Benjamin Chapman.

When he took charge of his aunt's property in 1920, Chapman declared, it was worth $1,200,000, but increased to $1,341,960 by the time she died, Jan. 18, 1927. He related that he sold some of her stock in the Burroughs Adding Machine Co., the foundation of her fortune, at $120 a share and invested $550,000 to $600,000 of the proceeds, largely in bonds, through the Detroit banking house of his brother, Charles G. Chapman, in order to diversify her holdings.

Should the will be invalidated, one-half of the estate would go to Mrs. Chapman and one-half would be distributed equally among Mrs. Pulitzer and her sisters, Mrs. Gerard B. Allen and Mrs. Robert B. Whitemore, and the children of a deceased sister.

Washington (Mo.) Woman Recovers Diamonds; Hotel Guest Reports Loss of $3400 in Jewelry.

Mrs. Ruby Breckenkamp, wife of Otto F. Breckenkamp of Washington, Mo., was at Hotel Coronado yesterday evening when she missed two diamond rings valued at $800. Remembering she had washed her hands half an hour before at the Scruggs-Vandervoort-Barney department store, she and her husband hurried downtown, and, with a policeman, went up to the washroom. The rings were found where she had left them.

When Mrs. George Goettling, 4129 Kosuth avenue, went downtown yesterday, she placed a $450 diamond bar pin in a handkerchief in her handbag. Later she discovered the bag open and the handkerchief and pin missing.

Mrs. Anna Baer, a guest at Hotel Jefferson, reported the loss of jewelry valued at $3400 yesterday morning. Not wishing to leave the jewelry in her suite while she went shopping, she had placed it in a handkerchief in her stocking from which it disappeared. A diamond bar pin, valued by Mrs. Baer at $1500, was the most valuable item. The jewelry is insured.

'FRIENDLY' ROOMER DEPARTS,
ALSO $200 OF LANDLADY'S

Money She Gave Him to Deposit for Her Put in His Own Account

Mrs. Emma B. Hall, 3732 West Pine boulevard, has lost her "friendly roomer" and $200.

A man about 55 years old went to room at her house six weeks ago. He was a carpenter from Cincinnati, he said. He ran errands and performed other chores for Mrs. Hall and always had a smile and a kind word. On Jan. 14 Mrs. Hall handed him $200 to be deposited to her account at the Grand National Bank. Later she learned the amount had not been credited to her. "I was in a hurry and I deposited it in my own account," the roomer explained. "I'll transfer it to you in a day or two."

Monday night Mrs. Hall discovered her friendly roomer had checked out. Yesterday she went to the bank and learned the $200 also had been checked out.

Best Remedy for Obstinate Cough Made at Home

David Davidson, 58, Tells of Attack by Man Who Asked for Match.

David Davidson, 58 years old, who worked as a laborer in a cap factory at 1531 Washington avenue in which he had a $2000 interest, and who held title to his home and a $15,000 apartment house, died early today at city hospital of a razor wound in his throat, suffered under circumstances which police are investigating.

Davidson, who is married and has four grown children, lived at 5152 Palm street. He staggered into a drug store at Geraldine avenue and Palm street at 7:50 o'clock last night, with a jagged cut in his throat.

Taken to city hospital, he told this story to police:

He had escorted his wife to the home of a daughter, Mrs. Blidie Kornblum, 4960 Terry avenue, and was returning home alone when, at the mouth of an alley half a block from his house, he was stopped by a man who asked for a match. Davidson handed a package of safety matches to the man, who was unable to light them.

"It's too windy here," the man explained, adding, "Let's step into the garage."

They entered an open garage a few doors away, where the man, without warning, drew a weapon, slashed at Davidson, and ran away. Davidson went to the drug store.

Davidson said he had no enemies and knew of no motive for the attack. He said he was unable to tell whether his assailant was a white man or Negro, but he was a "big" man.

In a garage at 5132 Palm, police found an old-style razor with a green celluloid handle, blood stained. The razor bore the word "Kismet" and the imprint of a German maker. It appeared to be a new razor. Police will attempt to trace its ownership.

Relatives of Davidson said he shaved with a safety razor, and they had never seen the one with the green handle.

Davidson had no cause to end his life, relatives said. Negotiations were under way for him to dispose of the 24-family apartment house he owned at 5838 Enright avenue, on which there was an indebtedness of $55,000.

BISHOP MANNING'S AID QUIT

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—The resignation of the Very Rev. Howard C. Robbins, dean of the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, to take effect March 31, was accepted yesterday at a meeting of the trustees.

The resignation was tendered by Dean Robbins Dec. 28, but action on it was postponed because of the reluctance of the trustees to accept it because of Bishop Manning's illness. The dean said one of his reasons for resigning was because of a difference of opinion between himself and the Bishop as to matters of administration.

Fined for Quail Law Violation.
E. L. Lynch, president of the E. L. Lynch Poultry Co., was fined $50 for illegal possession of quail after he had pleaded guilty before Judge Gayer in Court of Criminal Correction yesterday. The fine was stayed on good behavior. Deputy Game Warden Hollweg found 45 quail in the icebox of the poultry street last Dec. 12.

You'll never know how quickly a stubborn cough or chest cold can be conquered, until you try this famous recipe. It is used in millions of homes, because it gives more prompt, positive relief than anything else. It's no trouble at all to mix and tastes good.

Take a pint bottle of our 24 oz. of Pinex, then add plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey to make a full pint. This saves two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough medicines, and gives you a purer, better remedy. It never spoils, and tastes good—children like it.

You can actually feel its penetrating, soothing action on the inflamed throat membranes. It also promptly loosens the germ-laden phlegm, and at the same time, it is absorbed into the body, where it goes directly to the bronchial tubes. This three-fold action explains why it brings such quick relief even in bronchial coughs and "hu" coughs.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway Pine, containing the active agents of creosote, camphor, refined, medicinal form, and known as one of the greatest healing agents for severe coughs, chest colds and bronchial troubles.

Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

Health officials in the many states of the country suffering from influenza have done much to combat its spread. Common sense has been published broad and followed by the public in general. This advice of these officials deserves the attention of every

Avoid crowds whenever possible. Keep away from all who are coughing and sniffing. If you see someone catching a cold, come to a physician immediately. Exercise regularly, in the open air whenever possible. Eat only wholesome foods. Drink plenty of water. Get a night's sleep. Such precautions help to maintain the greatest bodily resistance to disease.

With the influenza prevalent now, consider Vapex, a special balsam. Many have formed the worth-while habit of putting a drop on a finger and rubbing it over the nostrils each morning. The vapor is very pleasant and refreshing. It may be inhaled frequently during the day. There is no bother or dosing to Vapex. It is the modern way to stop a cold in its start. The name and address of the author must accompany every contribution, but on request will not be published. Letters not exceeding 200 words will receive preference.

The Art Glass Industry.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
OUR editorial, "Tariffs and Good Will," was read with considerable interest. To get the good will of foreign countries, are we to allow our industries to be wrecked and ruined? The importation of shoes, backed by American capital, started with a few hundred thousand pairs about six years ago. It gained gradually until 1927, when 625,000 pairs came in. Five months of 1928 brought over 1,800,000 pairs. Note the increase?

Now let us consider another industry. About 35 of the last 40 churches to have art glass windows in St. Louis bought windows made in Germany. Shoe workers, glass workers and many other workers are walking the streets, unable to buy the products, made by other workers and unable to lay any golden eggs for the retailers. You know the dirty and unethical methods used to put our potash and dye manufacturers out of business. The same tricks are being used today against our art glass industry.

In Chicago our art glass firms can hardly get a church in competition with this foreign junk. I say junk because I can prove that our work is superior to the foreign work. Our employers have granted us the five-day week and good wages. Income tax reports will show that most of them finished 1928 in the red. To hell with good will if our industry is wrecked and we have nothing left. We can't eat good will.

WALTER A. CLIFFORD,
Secretary Ornamental Glass Workers' Union.

Senator Sheppard's Discovery.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
IT is away down to eighteen place in the Constitution, but, so saith its fond parent, it is first in the "Heart and purpose of Almighty God." Since the Senator from Texas has quit seeing pink lizards and wild geese wearing straw hats and rubber boots, he sees roots. He finds roots at Sinai that even Moses failed to uncover and at Bethlehem that all the inspired special correspondents for the New Testament missed altogether when they were covering the story. St. Luke, 11:24, tells of a fellow who "walketh through dry places seeking rest and finding none." The Senator has been walking through dry places seeking roots and finding them. You may pity Senator Sheppard's ignorance of Biblical lore, but you will have to admire his nerve.

L. Y. MAN.

For Justice to Negro Citizens.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
THE comprehensive and scholarly inaugural address of Gov. Caulfield seems to bring into the commonwealth of Missouri an executive who lives in that higher atmosphere of statesmanship. There was a breath of sincerity, sympathy and constructive ideas for the development of all of the citizens, which is the spirit written in the motto of Missouri—"Let the welfare of the people be the supreme law."

Gov. Caulfield believes that the Negro children of Missouri should have those rights guaranteed to them under the constitution of this State—equal educational advantages. He realizes that a minority group which is handicapped in higher educational and common school advantages is a weak link in the chain of human progress. He has called attention to the necessary needs of the Negro youth who is delinquent—a separate reformatory—a broad spirit of human brotherhood. He recommends that cell houses built in an archaic period of the State's history in which Negro criminals in the penitentiary are incarcerated be removed and they be given human conveniences.

The writer takes pride in wishing for Gov. Henry S. Caulfield, health and happiness and success in the great work which he desires to accomplish.

HENRY W. WHEELER,

Protests Against Gas Rate Increase.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
IT seems to me the increase in gas rates granted to the Laclede Gas Co. by the State Public Service Commission is exorbitant. That the little users such as I should shoulder the advance seems unfair. It is because we have such limited funds that we are compelled to be so careful not to run up bills. Providing we had a good income there would be no stinting, and the result would be a large bill, but plenty to pay it with.

J. B.

For Kiel and Against Increased Tax Rate

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
IT is my intention to support Henry W. Kiel for Mayor against Victor Miller. I am going to give him my active support in the primary and in the election. I am against any raise in the tax rate and so is Henry Kiel. He was Mayor long enough to know what the city needs mostly, and if he is against any increase in the tax rate, then I am sure the rate ought not to be raised. Values have greatly increased and bring in revenue enough to run the city. Kiel says so and I believe him.

WILLIAM H. QUINT.

A JOB FOR LEADING CITIZENS.

William L. Igoe, Democratic candidate for Mayor four years ago, who declined to enter the race this year, wants the Democratic candidate to be designated before the primary. He says the time before the election after the primary is too short to effect a thorough organization.

Mr. Igoe says that the Democrats have a better chance to elect a Mayor than since the election of Rolla Wells in 1905. We can say this, however, that no Democrat has a chance to be elected unless he is a strong, independent man of exceptional character, ability and fitness, and can command a large independent vote. That is the type of man St. Louis ought to have for its next Mayor.

How is a man of that type to be selected and nominated? Mr. Igoe has no suggestion to offer. Judge Priest suggested a convention, but how is it practicable to select a representative convention? Presumably, if the candidate is to be selected before the primary, the selection would have to be made by the leaders of the party, who would name a man and recommend him to the voters at the primary. In fact, a scouting committee has been appointed to find a good candidate and induce him to run. If that event we shall have a hand-picked Democratic candidate opposing a boss-picked Republican candidate.

If the Democrats should succeed in putting up the right kind of a candidate for Mayor, a man of recognized fitness, they would do a valuable service. They would give the voters a choice.

The Post-Dispatch is not so much concerned with the method of selecting a candidate, so long as it is free from corruption and the candidate measures up to the standard we believe to be desirable for the majority. The primary method of selection has proved a failure. It is only in rare instances that a majority of voters can nominate the best candidate.

We know that it is high time that leading men of both parties, including the leading citizens of St. Louis, should take steps to see that the voters in every municipal election have a chance to elect a Mayor who is fully equal to the requirements of the job. The job is getting bigger and bigger, and it is peculiarly important that the right man be selected as the head of the city government for the next four years.

There is another consideration in the approaching municipal election which ought to receive the earnest attention and co-operation of leading men of the city. That is the breaking of the monopoly of the dominant party in the Board of Aldermen. Under the Charter Aldermen are elected by the vote of the whole city, and naturally, with the large Republican majority, Republicans only are elected. There is no opposition. But opposition is essential for an honest and capable administration.

There ought to be a concentration of votes on good candidates of both parties, as there was in the election of Judges of the Circuit bench. There ought to be a ticket embracing the best candidates of both parties, in both primary and the election.

The Charter is faulty in this respect, but until the fault can be corrected citizens should combine to remedy at the polls the evil of a one-party Board of Aldermen.

The leading business men are making good progress, through the Chamber of Commerce, in building up the city's industry and commerce and in moving for public improvements. But an essential for municipal progress is a sound, capable government in the city hall. The leading citizens should act vigorously in that direction.

FAREWELL TO RIP.

Rip Van Winkle, famous horned toad of Eastland, Tex., has given up the ghost. In the year of life granted him since emerging from the corner stone he had a grand and glorious frolic. He traveled around the country, sat for portraits, gave exhibitions in zoological gardens, and even had an audience with Mr. Coolidge at the White House. He died without making a deathbed statement and left behind him the smoking embers of a furious controversy.

It was solemnly asserted by Rip's friends that in July, 1897, he was entombed in the corner stone of the Eastland Courthouse and that when this cornerstone was opened in the winter of 1928 Rip was still alive. Thus, he must have existed for nearly 31 years without food, water or air. Rip took Eastland by storm. Shortly thereafter he was shown at the Forest Park Zoo where he found a staunch admirer in the person of George Dieckman, president of the Zoological Society. Mr. Dieckman was so wrought up over cynical comments on Rip's story that he offered a reward of $1000 to anyone who could prove it was true. Mr. Dieckman was never in much danger of losing his money.

The most formidable supporter of Rip was found in William T. Hornaday, director of the New York Zoological Park, who said that the witnesses of Rip's delivery from his tomb were too numerous and respectable to be lightly thrust aside by a breath of idle skepticism. But the consensus of scientific opinion was that no horned toad could have lived in tightly sealed masonry for 31 years.

All the scientists questioned about Rip, it seems to us that only one caught perfectly the spirit of the dispute. That was William Kilgore, curator at the University of Minnesota, who said: "Maybe it did happen—you never can tell about Texas."

LUDICROUS LUDENDORFF.

Of the colossal personages of the World War none cut quite such a tawdry figure, intellectually, than the armistice as Von Ludendorff. As the whispering campaign had it, while the guns were roaring, Ludendorff was the real military genius of Germany, and the popular idol, Von Hindenburg, a mere effigy. In the years of peace Ludendorff has revealed himself politically as childishly credulous, he has bungled his personal affairs, and now he is exposed as the victim of a gold-brick swindle operated by a former plumber's assistant and a barmaid. Meantime, Von Hindenburg, in his virile eighties, has amplified his soldierly record of loyalty and ability with a civilian career of the same sterling qualities. Monarchist under the monarchy, republican under the republic, the highest type of German character, proved by all the tests. Across history Ludendorff will leave goose tracks to Hindenburg's lionlike trail.

The dentists want the next amendment to the Federal Constitution—one prohibiting the eating of certain foods which cause decay of the teeth. It might also be styled an amendment to increase the world's monetary supply of gold, for one dentist calculates that Chicago people alone are carrying around $10,000,000 worth of gold in their mouths.

ROAD MONEY IN THE CONSTITUTION.

Attorney-General Sharret holds that the Legislature has no power to designate farm-to-market roads, nor to specify the amount to be expended in any county for the construction of such roads. This opinion, we believe, expresses the public's understanding of the situation.

The constitutional amendment authorizing the $75,000,000 bond issue, Mr. Sharret points out, vests the power to lay out farm-to-market roads in the State Highway Commission, subject to approval of local officials.

The Legislature has been relieved of the duty of road legislation. There are two things, however, which that body can do in furtherance of the popular mandate delivered at the polls last November. It can pass an enabling act making immediately available sufficient funds from the authorized bonds to maintain construction of our road system at its present peak. It can also pass a bill to meet the technical requirements for marketing the bonds. That done, the Legislature's present duty as regards roads is done.

Some of our legislators, apparently, have not familiarized themselves with the recently adopted amendment. That seems to be the case of Representative Bales of Shannon County, who has proposed to divert $40,000,000 of the bond money to farm-to-market roads. Mr. Bales is doubtless trying to serve, first, the interests of his constituency and, second, the interests of rural Missouri as a whole. That is a praiseworthy sentiment. The Post-Dispatch is in full sympathy with it. Just the same, Mr. Bales, as a practical man, with a considerable experience in the Legislature and in public enterprises, ought to know the plan now in effect in Missouri for administering road funds and managing the road project is a sound plan; it is producing the desired results; and, with the fresh capital which the people of Missouri have subscribed, we shall in a few years have a completed and balanced highway system, which means a great mileage of farm-to-market roads articulated with the secondary and primary roads.

As a matter of fact, the diversion of funds proposed by Mr. Bales is, in effect, included in the construction program. The sixth biennial report of the State Highway Commission states that there will be, in round numbers, $150,000,000 available up to 1937 for road building, and of this sum $40,000,000 (the amount stipulated in the Bales proposal) will be allotted to farm-to-market roads.

The Attorney-General's ruling ought to quash any further attempts at community road legislation. We have put our road future in the Constitution. All the Legislature is required, or expected, to do is to co-operate with the people in speeding up road construction by passing two simple measures.

THEIR "NEVER-ENDING AUDACITY."

It is hard to believe that the Missouri Legislature seriously intends to repeal the Workmen's Compensation Act, even though circumstances indicate that the House is bent on doing that very thing. There is significance in the action of Speaker Jones Parker in referring the repeal bill, introduced by Representative Roberts of Crawford County, to the Judiciary Committee, instead of to the committee specially created to handle compensation legislation. The Speaker, to be sure, denies any design in his extraordinary departure from custom. The fact remains, nevertheless, that he has placed this bill in the hands of his enthusiastic friends. And the Judiciary Committee, it is predicted by our correspondent, will report the bill favorably by a unanimous vote.

The Post-Dispatch does not believe this law will be repealed. Industry won't stand for it. Labor won't stand for it. Public decency won't stand for it. Anyhow, if the Roberts bill should be passed it would, we assume, be vetoed by Gov. Caulfield. Should it be passed over his veto it will be referred to the people, because the device to muzzle the people—the tricky "emergency clause"—no longer operates.

But the effrontry of the sponsors of this plan may be acknowledged. Representative Roberts, Speaker Parker and the members of the Judiciary Committee exemplify what Walt Whitman characterized as "the never-ending audacity of elected persons."

A million men could not close Boston's speak-easies; says the Chief of Police of that town. The sons of the Pilgrims, like their resolute sires, are strong for the four r's—readin', ritin', 'rithmetic and rum.

ANOTHER INCOME TAX OUTRAGE.

In connection with the bill to abolish secrecy surrounding the granting of large tax refunds by the Federal Government, Congress might well consider other aspects of the administration of the income tax law.

We have in mind particularly the enormous power possessed by the bureaucrats in the disposition of civil and criminal responsibility on the part of those who bequeath the income tax law.

Supposing an individual or a corporation swindles the Government out of $1,000,000 by rendering a false income tax return. It is not difficult to make such a supposition for there are plenty of cases on record where it has happened. Ordinarily, such a matter would go before a Federal grand jury, indictments would be returned, and the offender would be subjected to the orderly processes of law.

As it is, the offender, flanked by smart lawyers, may now go to Washington, appear before the high moguls of income tax administration and arrange a "compromise." Once that compromise is made—and frequently it has been an exceedingly bad bargain from the Government's point of view—the offender is given a clean bill of health. He is no longer subject to prosecution in the courts.

No other governmental agency possesses such power as this. Nor do we think it ever was intended to vest in the hands of a few obscure bureaucrats what amounts to the prerogative reserved to the Chief Executive, namely, the power of pardon.

It is an outrage that Congress has permitted it, and some remedy cannot too soon be applied. Not only is it contrary to all accepted procedure in the case of crime, but it is a practice which invites bribery and the worst kind of political abuse.

WOULD HE SHOOT IF—*Florida's Golden Opportunity

Last November Florida went Republican for the first time in history; the politicos of the state are not disposed to let Mr. Hoover overlook that fact; Miami seethes with political speculation and the job-seeking line is forming at the right.

R. E. BELCHER in The Baltimore Evening Sun.

FLORIDA was one of the "Solid South" until last November; now it is politically a mongrel. It voted for Hoover and against all other capital offerings of the Republican party. Whereupon he decided that those votes would, if turned to Hoover, elect the Republican candidate—that is, as far as Florida was concerned. According to Mr. Pierce, he put this thought into action and began the formation of "Hoover clubs" designed to establish a haven into which the anti-Smith Democrat might sail and rest without stigmatizing himself with the name "Republican."

The highest vote for any Smith elector was 180,721 and the highest vote cast for a Hoover elector was 144,185, thus fixing Hoover's popular plurality at 43,447. The question as to where this plurality came from and who is entitled to the credit of securing it is a problem which the incoming President is going to face whether he likes it or not. The politicians in Florida are going to see to it that this question is both settled and settled.

Florida produced a substantial "anti-Smith" vote; it also featured "Hoover-Democrats" as an added attraction. And this combination is not hesitating to call the attention of the next President to the fact that Florida went for Hoover and that other Republican candidates thus fix their status as a "Hoover State."

Palm Beach has its candidate for the Federal judgeship. It offers Judge E. C. Davis, a former Circuit Court Judge in the State courts and a lawyer of admitted ability. Judge Davis is also about 50 and well versed in law. His partner is a close friend of Postmaster-General Harry New.

Lakeland is the home of the present United States Senator Park Trammell, and also the home of Congressman Henry J. Drane, both Democrats. Lakeland is the home of one of the most ardent Republicans the State possesses, E. E. Caloway, a lawyer and a candidate for the coveted judgeship. Caloway was a candidate long ago, long before the political primaries of last year. He still is a candidate and vigorously active in his own behalf. He led the forces at Dayton in their effort to unseat George W. Bean, the former national committeeman, and in the selection of the present national committeeman, Glen B. Skipper. Mr. Caloway was born in Alabama and comes nearest being a Florida "cracker" than any of the other active applicants for the judgeship. Mr. Caloway says that he is following the lead of the State chairman, Mr. Knott, and remaining away from Miami, taking Mr. Hoover at his word.

It was this dimly remembered incident in Lakeland's history that brought about the famous fresco work in the Senate wing of the Capitol. Brumidi was a master of his art.

It was to him the Pope intrusted the decoration of the Rafael fresco in the Vatican.

The following old records of the Senate include a statement filed by the artist himself that the ceiling of the old Agricola Committee room with its elaborate decorations and all-sorcery presentations of cultural themes, form the "first specimens of the real fresco to be introduced into America."

One fact which appears to have been overlooked by most of those who have studied their first political blood is that it is still possible for President Coolidge to appoint the new Judge and thus save Mr. Hoover considerable bother. However, it is not believed that President Coolidge will do this, though it is admitted that the affairs of the Federal courts in Florida are in desperate shape because of the burdens which have fallen upon the shoulders of the one remaining Justice in Southern Florida.

Active Republicans in Florida do not fail to contend that if the judgeship were set there would still be other things for Mr. Hoover to decide. In fact, look today as though Mr. Hoover, instead of coming into a place of rest, is coming into one of the most actively interesting political States in the Union. Florida went "for Hoover" and the new President is going to find that out if he has not already heard about it.

CHARLES R. PIERCE of Miami, a lawyer of admitted ability and a graduate of Leland Stanford, is about 50 years of age and presents a decidedly judicial exterior—a massive head, set firmly on square shoulders, surmounted by iron-gray hair. Mr. Pierce claimed in a recent statement that he was a Republican; that he scruti-

THROUGH ENGLISH EYES. J. A. Spender (Frederick A. Stokes Co.)

HE search for the foreign visitor who has not recorded his impressions of America may remain unabated. But the quest of the perfect book of foreign impressions is at an end—the book has been found. Mr. J. A. Spender wrote it. "Through English Eyes" is the title. The Frederick A. Stokes Co. are the publishers. And Mr. Spender really has some impressions to record. Even in a world of super-sure values, where the word "charming" is applied indiscriminately to whatever manages to get itself between covers, one must risk calling these essays charming. No other word quite so well describes Mr. Spender's lightly worn erudition, his tolerance of what he admires beyond his ken, his admiration of American energy and initiative, his highly successful efforts at understanding American and American institutions. After some introductory chapters on the physical aspects of America, including the cultured Englishman's view of the Wind of the Western World that once so virulently anti-British in Chicago, Mr. Spender devotes well balanced, thoughtful, chapters to such diverse subjects as business, politics, law and disorder, religion and the churches, prohibition, the racial question and others so intriguing. The last section of the book is a sane, searching analysis of British-American relations, with the only advice Mr. Spender has to offer tendered impartially, but graciously, to both peoples. Mr. Spender is ever the kindly observer; never the self-appointed, irritating lecturer. Americans anxious for a cultured, balanced English view of America would do well to read Mr. Spender's admirable effort.

EGYPT IN SILHOUETTE. By Trowbridge Hall. (Macmillan, Inc., will soon publish a great Finnish classic, entitled "Seven Brothers," by Alex Kivi. This novel first appeared in 1870 and immediately became one of Finland's most famous books. Today in Finland, it is said, there is scarcely a peasant's hut that does not have its copy of the novel, and it can be purchased in every sort of binding, ranging from cheap paper to the finest tooled leather. It has long been known in France and Germany, but it has never before appeared in English. Although the author lived but 38 years, he is said to have been one of the most powerful forces in Finnish literature, and his novels and plays are considered Finland's finest contributions to European letters.

URGES DEVELOPMENT OF HUMOR IN CHILD

Dr. Frank L. Wright Declares
Youngsters Also Should Be Taught Appreciation.

The importance of developing in children an appreciation of music, literature, nature and the beauty about them in everyday life, coupled with a sense of humor, was emphasized last night by Dr. Frank L. Wright, head of the Department of Education of Washington University, in the last of a series of lectures on parent-and-child relations at Soldan High School under the auspices of the Board of Religious Organizations.

He ranked humor high in his list of means of developing the emotional side of the child. "We do not in school or home encourage enough the telling of humorous stories," he declared. "Many a time a child has decided never to try to tell a joke again because of the haw-haws of the adults about him. I say that we ought to encourage humor as second only to proper spiritual living in the development of the individual life. The child as well as the adult should try to get as much humor out of life as possible."

Dr. Wright illustrated his points by the reading of poems and the singing of a few songs to illustrate their effect on the emotions. "With few exceptions," he concluded, "we have failed to teach our children to appreciate their surroundings and to assist them in the development of proper emotional reactions because we have not taken our work seriously enough. It is told of Charles Dickens that he walked the streets of London for hours before he could make up his mind to let Little Paul Domby die. If we took our work as seriously, the emotional life of our children would be developed to a much higher plane than it is now."

"We should appreciate our jobs and we should teach our children to appreciate their jobs—a definite and important part of life. Our children should be taught a

NEW PLAY BY BERNARD SHAW TO BE PRODUCED IN AUGUST

"The Apple Cart" Said to Be a Political Satire; Content Not Divulged.

Copyright, 1929, by the Press and Pulitzer Publishing Co. (The New York World and Post-Dispatch).

LONDON, Jan. 23.—Only four persons know the secret of what is in George Bernard Shaw's new play, "The Apple Cart," which is to be produced by Sir Barry Jackson at Malvern in August and later in London. They are Jackson, Mrs. Shaw, Shaw and his secretary, Miss Patch.

All that has been divulged is that the play is a political satire.

Miss Patch has said Shaw wrote it between Nov. 5 and Dec. 29 at his country house near Welwyn, Hertfordshire, and sent the manuscript to her to be typed in London.

Shaw gave Jackson first chance at the play in gratitude for his having arranged the full-length production of "Back to Methuselah."

THOMAS DELIGHTS ODEON AUDIENCE

Civic Music League Patrons
Hear Baritone in a Fine
Song Recital.

By THOMAS B. SHERMAN.

John Charles Thomas, the American baritone, gave a recital at the Odeon last night under the auspices of the Civic Music League. A good-sized audience attended and heard one of the best male voices of the present day for though Mr. Thomas may have certain limitations of style—who hasn't?—his natural equipment and his method of voice production leave little to be wished for.

Mr. Thomas offered three groups of songs. Only one or two of these were really distinguished, but the more commonplace ones were clothed with the singer's own natural dignity so that the more discriminating members of the audience were not offended by obvious appeals to low taste. On the other hand the one or two songs that demanded a deep emotion and a subtle distribution of emphasis, if they were to sound like anything at all, were delivered with their full effect. Mr. Thomas also displayed a fetching gift of humor. This was used in the best of taste. Rather than run the risk of making the sentimental content of the song too obvious he tended toward understatement, but his expression was never so delicate that the audience failed to get it.

The audience, in fact, was so delighted with what Mr. Thomas did with Brahms' song, "Der Schmied," that he was forced to repeat it before he could go on with the program. A similar repetition of "Old Mother Hubbard," in which the woebegone state of the poor basset-hound dog was revealed in a series of descending quarter tones, was asked and granted.

Mr. Thomas sang a number of encores, one of which was the "Prologue" from Pagliacci. After getting through with this he must have realized that a singer pauses at his peril in the presence of any American audience. For when Mr. Thomas paused last night just before singing the final "ring up the curtain" exhortation of that celebrated aria, the audience began applauding with such fervor that all he could do was bow and leave the stage.

The palm-slappers were just as well satisfied, and the author lived but 38 years, he is said to have been one of the most powerful forces in Finnish literature, and his novels and plays are considered Finland's finest contributions to European letters.

Mr. Thomas was accompanied by Lester Hodges.

Day by Day at Sea By O. O. McIntyre

A SEA—Fog as thick as pea soup today. And every three minutes the croak of the horn—like a giant bull frog. A storm gives a warning but a ship in the fog has the helplessness of a blindfolded man creeping toward a precipice. The deck is a blurry mist, and after apologizing to several posts, I left it flat.

In the writing room I came upon the trail of something or other. An abandoned letter head contained this feminine scrawl: "Boofy baby—is on tumb for oufsum Bright Eyes for itsy-bitsy cocktail at 5. Boofy—" and then it ended abruptly. Probably one of those misunderstood-at-home husbands aboard.

While nibbling the end of a pen I never think of a soul to write to on a ship—a silver-haired gentleman with black pince-nez asked for my blotter as prelude to conversation. He has something to do with diamond mines in Kimberly and wanted me to look at a prospectus. He didn't know I'm a Scotch boy.

Today I went shopping right smack in the middle of the ocean. As you've probably heard at least twice, a great liner is a floating city. One may shop at a variety of little stores for everything from perfume to fur coats. There are barbers, manicurists, doctors, a dentist, masseurs, gyms, stenographers and notaries public.

There is a movie show every day, the benefit concert with usually remarkable talent, tennis squash, a swimming pool and the usual variety of deck games and professional boxing. Tea dancing and cabaret. Also Catholic, Protestant and Christian Science religious services.

On the top deck is a kennel for small dogs in charge of a veterinary. Dogs are permitted in cabins. American railroads could stimulate much good will by observing the same tolerance trans-Atlantic liners show household pets. Many Americans do their traveling abroad for this reason.

There are some 20 dogs, a pet marmoset and a variety of birds aboard. And down in the steerage an old fellow, who could match whiskers with Trader Horn and have enough left over to stuff a pillow, has a pet lizard.

EMIL FUCHS ART FOUNDATION

Exhibition of Work to Help Students Provided in Will.

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—The residence estate of Emil Fuchs, painter and sculptor, who shot himself in his apartment Jan. 12, will be used to establish a foundation which will direct an exhibition of his art work in a suitable hall in Washington, D. C., his will just filed discloses.

The artist desired that the exhibition be established at the national capital to aid "those who wish to study and learn." If for any reason the foundation trustees find it inconvenient to have the exhibition in Washington, the will directs that the plan be carried out in Austria, his native land. Renee Fuchs, a sister, is the largest single beneficiary, receiving $54,000 of the bequests and trust funds, which total $150,000. Thirty-nine employees are to receive one week's salary each.

Charity Fund Trustee.

Dr. Wright gave a list of principles of teaching for appreciation. "In order to teach appreciation, the teacher or the parent must be capable of appreciation," he declared. "The child should be taught when young some selections of literature, some music and some games that he can enjoy all through his life. To teach for appreciation, we should begin on the child's plane and develop the child's taste to a higher plane. The literature and music we use must have a human appeal. We must allow the child to express his opinions without hampering him with ours."

Dr. Wright illustrated his points by the reading of poems and the singing of a few songs to illustrate their effect on the emotions.

"With few exceptions," he concluded, "we have failed to teach our children to appreciate their surroundings and to assist them in the development of proper emotional reactions because we have not taken our work seriously enough. It is told of Charles Dickens that he walked the streets of London for hours before he could make up his mind to let Little Paul Domby die. If we took our work as seriously, the emotional life of our children would be developed to a much higher plane than it is now."

Dr. Wright's Teaching of Appreciation.

"After religion and humor, the greatest need today in the education of children is to teach them to appreciate others, to appreciate great writers, musicians, painters, builders, ministers. It is a rare thing nowadays to find someone who appreciates someone else."

"We should appreciate our jobs and we should teach our children to appreciate their jobs—a definite and important part of life. Our children should be taught a

WHO MAKES YOUR FIRE INSURANCE RATE?

Trained experts compute it; but property owners—individually and collectively—create the conditions which determine the cost of their fire insurance.

Several major factors enter into the determination of fire insurance rates, such as structure, occupancy, the quality of private and public fire protection, exposure from other property, general loss experience.

The agent who writes your insurance—or your broker—or you, yourself—can obtain an itemized explanation of how your insurance rate is computed. There is nothing secret about it.

The Stock Fire Insurance Companies solicit your interest, and offer free of charge the advice of rate-making bureaus to assist in eliminating hazards or correcting defects which may result in lowering your rate.

Do not attempt unsound fire prevention measures, but seek the advice of the accredited experts of rating bureaus who are anxious to tell you the proper way to make improvements.

Insurance companies generally prefer risks eligible to a low rate to those which carry higher ones. A low rate indicates better conditions, better maintenance and less chance of fire.

The National Board of Fire Underwriters does not make rates and has nothing to do with rate making. As a bureau of standards it does supply rate makers with units for measuring the comparative strength and usefulness of materials and devices.

In Missouri fire insurance rates are computed by the Missouri Inspection Bureau, with offices at St. Louis, Kansas City, St. Joseph, Springfield, Joplin and Hannibal.

FRENCH DEALER IN SUGAR HELD FOR $3,000,000 FRAUD

Leon Polier Arrested After Buying 39,000 Tons From German and Shipping It to England.

Copyright, 1929, by the Press and Pulitzer Publishing Co. (The New York World and Post-Dispatch).

PARIS, Jan. 23.—Another big financial scandal, involving more than $3,000,000, was made public yesterday when Leon Polier, head of a sugar concern known as the Societe Fermiere de Sucrerie, was arrested.

He is accused of defrauding the French Government of the value of 39,000 tons of sugar which he bought from a German manufacturer. In accordance with the machinery for payment of German reparations in kind, Polier paid the German manufacturer with drafts on the Reparations Commission drawn by the French Treasury. These drafts were cashed by the vendors of the sugar at the offices of the agent-general for reparations payments out of the annuity paid by the Reich.

Polier failed to reimburse the French Government after selling the sugar, it is alleged. It is now shown that none of the sugar reached France, but was shipped to England.

The Compagnie Franco-Marocaine pour Navigation et Commerce, of which Polier was chairman of the board of directors, is charged with a similar fraud.

No trace of the $3,000,000 proceeds from the sale of the sugar has been found.

Directors of other companies also are charged with complicity in the alleged fraud. The Ferme-Sucrerie dealt heavily in sugar under the system by which reparations payments have been made in kind, and in 1927 signed a contract with the French Ministry of Finance for 9000 tons. Implicated in the affair is the French company, Industrie Sucrerie. Three English firms also are mentioned, the Ardent Trust, the International Beet Sugar Corporation and the firm of Perry, 56 Victoria street, London.

MEASURES DRAWN FOR UNIFIED RAPID TRANSIT SYSTEM

provements of the property, maintenance of service, or the operation of additional or substitute facilities. Under this act jurisdiction of the Public Service Commission would be extended to busses in cities.

50-Year Bonds Proposed.

One of the proposed constitutional amendments would give the city authority to issue public utility bonds for as long a period as 50 years. The present constitutional limitation is 20 years. The commission believes that in the case of improvements of the magnitude and permanence of rapid transit facilities the longer period would be greatly to the advantage of the city. Bonds could be sold on better terms and the annual sinking fund charges would not be so great.

The second proposed constitutional amendment would provide for "excess condemnation" of property in connection with the construction of a public improvement. This act would provide that "in addition to property specifically required for construction of a public project" the city might acquire "such excess property as the court having jurisdiction of the subject matter may find to be reasonably necessary to carry out the general plan of which such project forms a part or to minimize the consequential damages incident to such project."

The city could dispose of such excess property and it is believed that following completion of the improvements it could profit substantially from the increased value. This authority is desired particularly in connection with the proposed Third street river front elevated boulevard.

If this legislation is approved by the commission, steps will be taken at once to have the group of four proposed acts introduced in the Legislature with the hope of having them enacted at this session.

None of the proposed acts would commit the city in any way to any particular plan of rapid transit, but would, in the opinion of the City Counselor and the commission's engineer, open the way for whatever plan the Transportation Survey Commission may finally recommend to the city.

Chicagoan's 45-Day Contract for Their Recovery Expires and Is Not Extended.

Bonds of about $2,000,000 value, missing from the assets of the defunct International Life Insurance Co., have not been recovered, and the 45-day time limit of a contract with Edgar C. Proctor, Chicago investment banker, has expired.

Proctor last month represented to Massey Wilson, receiver of the International, that he might be able to find the bonds, to which the company was entitled as collateral on loans, but which were not among its assets. He said that in order to get the bonds he would have to pay a $700,000 indebtedness and would also deduct a considerable fee, leaving the insurance company something more than $1,000,000.

Recently Proctor inquired whether the contract would be extended, but no extension was given, and the time has now expired without a report from him.

LONDON EX-CONSTABLE TELLS OF BRIBES FROM NIGHT CLUBS

SUPERIOR PASSED MONEY ALONG TO HIM, HE SAYS AT TRIAL OF MOTHER-IN-LAW OF TWO PEERS.

Copyright, 1929, by the Press and Pulitzer Publishing Co., Inc., Post-Dispatch World.

LONDON, Jan. 23.—The trial of Ex-Police Sergeant Goddard, Mrs. Kate Merrick, "queen of the night clubs," and Luigi Achille Ribusu, Italian restaurant proprietor, was taken up yesterday with examination and cross-examination of former Police Constable Wilkin, who for 14 years assisted Goddard in watching and inspecting night clubs and premises in the West End of London.

Mrs. Merrick, mother-in-law of two peers, and Ribusu, are charged with having offered Goddard bribes for "protection." The prosecution charges that in the time he was receiving a salary of $30 a week, Goddard amassed $90,000.

Constable Wilkin resigned from the police a few days after Goddard did. He testified of having received money from Goddard from time to time, which the former Sergeant told him was a present from various persons running establishments in the area covered by their inspections. Among the persons he mentioned were Mrs. Goddard, an Italian woman who formerly kept a disorderly house here and who has since left the country; Bill Lee, who formerly ran a night club in Goddard's district; Jack May, another night club proprietor and Mrs. Merrick. Wilkin estimated he had received a total of about $1500 in this way from Goddard.

He declared he never asked Goddard what this money was for or why it was given to him, but just took it. Wilkin said that Goddard when giving the money, explained he had received some himself from the person in question. Wilkin also testified that one night last May, Goddard telephoned the proprietress of one of the Soho night clubs and warned her that her place was going to be raided.

HUNTRESS CAN'T REMEMBER SHOOTING HUSBAND, SHE SAYS

Mrs. Dallett Wilson Testifies He Was Abusive to Her in His New York Office.

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—Mrs. Esther Wilson, Washington society matron and big game huntress, testified in her own defense today at her trial for shooting her husband, Dallett Wilson, last March.

She said that when she went to his Fifth avenue law office she was so excited that she could not remember shooting him. Wilson was wounded twice and has testified that he and his wife were arguing about financial matters relative to their separation when she shot him. He said he thought the shooting was accidental.

Mrs. Wilson said she had carried a revolver "for a long, long time" for protection of her jewels, and added that she had been held up once. She bought the revolver in Washington, she testified, a police officer telling her about a store where she could get it. She then told of her visit to her husband's office the day of the shooting.

"I sat down across from his desk," she said. "He was very rude to me. I told him I wanted to have a definite understanding about money matters and he was perfectly dreadful. I never saw him so angry in my life."

"I couldn't make any headway. He said, 'Get out of here, get out of here.' He calmed down, then telephoned many people. I insisted on staying until the money matters were arranged."

"I had my handbag with me. I was so upset I didn't know what to do. Three or four times, Mr. Wilson tried to put me out of the office. He made a jump at me and cursed me."

She then began weeping. Finally, she declared, brokenly, "I don't remember shooting him."

NEGRO ACCUSED BY GIRL TRACED BY MUDDY COAT

Arrested After Flight When Arlene Dean, Who Says He Seized Her, Knocked Him Down.

Mud stained clothing, caused when he was knocked down by a young woman whom he seized in a vacant lot near 5300 Arsenal street, led to the arrest and identification yesterday of John Heron, 28 years old, a Negro, of 4669 Cook avenue.

Miss Arlene Dean, 20 years old, 5935 Fyler avenue, was crossing the lot when she was seized by a Negro. She struggled and succeeded in knocking her assailant down. The Negro then ran east in Arsenal street and Miss Dean reported the attempted assault to William B. Meyers, 5327 Fyler avenue, who was waiting to board a street car. She told Meyers that the Negro's coat was mud stained and asked Meyers to be on the lookout for the man.

Meyers boarded a car and four blocks east a Negro, with a muddy coat got on the car. The Negro left the car at Kingshighway, followed by Meyers, who notified a policeman at the corner and had the Negro arrested.

MINERS WANT COAL REGULATION DISCUSSED AT SPECIAL SESSION

Hawes Informs Council That Legislation to Be Taken Up Then Will Be Restricted.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—Consideration of the bill to regulate the bituminous coal industry in the forthcoming special session along with farm relief and the tariff was declared to be the desire of the United Mine Workers today by Henry Warrum, counsel for the organization, before the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee.

The attorney said every discussion of the textile industries and farm relief in the recent campaign included the bituminous situation and he urged the committee to report the bill to the Senate now even if it contains defects.

Warrum was told by Senator Hawes (Dem.), Missouri, that all bills on the Senate calendar this session automatically die on March 4 adjournment, but Warrum contended that to report the bill now would attract attention to it and the need for its early consideration.

Senator Hawes renewed his suggestion that the coal operators and the United Mine Workers try to agree on some legislation and submit a concise statement of their views, but Warrum declared that course would delay presentation of the bill to the Senate.

"They can't confine the legislation in a special session," Senator Wheeler (Dem.), Montana, asserted.

"I understand there will be an attempt to do so," Hawes replied.

BURNING OF 600 HOUSES IN CONSTANTINOPLE LAID TO STILL SPREAD OF FIRE CAUSED BY COMPANY'S FAILURE TO TURN ON WATER.

By the Associated Press.
CONSTANTINOPLE, Jan. 23.—Turkish authorities suppose that an explosion of a bootlegging distillery was responsible for the disastrous fire which yesterday swept one of the congested districts of the city. The number of shops and dwellings destroyed was estimated at 600, with a loss estimated at $1,000,000, of which only $53,600 was covered by insurance. The Turkish Red Crescent Society, the foreign embassies and individuals are organizing for relief of the nearly 3000 refugees from the district, most of them Greeks.

Fifteen Greeks in whose houses the fire started were arrested. Others were arrested and charged with trying to steal property which householders had thrown from their burning homes.

The spread of the fire was attributed to the failure of the water company to turn on the water until four hours after the fire started, it being the custom of the company to turn the water off every night.

RESEARCH BUREAU TAKES DISPUTE ON PAVING TO CITIZENS

500 Letters Sent to Property Owners Citing Higher Cost of Patented Types Under Consideration.

SHEET ASPHALT SAID TO COST MUCH LESS

Payment of Royalty Involved in Use of Bitulithic and Amiesite Pavements, Members Assert.

Unable to convince city officials that patented asphalt pavements should no longer be laid, on the ground that they cost more than ordinary asphalt, but have no additional merit, the Bureau of Municipal Research has carried its fight direct to affected property owners.

The bureau has taken the unusual step of sending about 500 letters to owners of land which would be assessed for proposed new asphaltic street surfaces. In each instance, the Board of Public Service had announced that non-patented sheet asphalt and two patented materials, Warrefield Bitulithic and Amiesite, would be discontinued.

At a hearing before the board yesterday, attended by about 150 owners of property abutting the five streets, a virtually unanimous demand was made by these persons for sheet asphalt. The board took the matter under advisement and will decide Friday. President Kinsey of the board said, with reference to one project, that no difference would be discernible between sheet asphalt and bitulithic during the first 10 years, but after that the bitulithic might last longer.

Find Sheet Asphalt Best. The Bureau of Municipal Research argues on the basis of records that sheet asphalt has the longest life and costs considerably less than any of the patented materials.

In its letter to property owners it said: "Comparisons of a large number of contracts awarded during 1928 show that the owner of a 50x100-foot lot paid from $39 to $95 more for bitulithic and amiesite than he would have paid for sheet asphalt." If similar prices maintain for the pending projects, the letter continued, "you will be required to pay proportionately the same higher costs if patented bitulithic or amiesite be used."

The laying of a patented pavement usually involves the payment of a royalty, estimated at approximately 25 cents per square yard," the letter went on. "When the Board specifies a patented pavement it has not, in the past, required it to be bid in competition with non-patented types. Bitulithic and Amiesite pavements are two inches thick. Sheet asphalt is three inches thick. The records of the city do not show that the patented Bitulithic or Amiesite last any longer or cost any less to maintain than the non-patented sheet asphalt."

Others Pct. Mort Costly. The letter did not request attendance at yesterday's hearing, but called attention to it. A number of the citizens speaking made reference to the communication, which said that the Board had estimated cost of the two patented pavings as 3 per cent more than that of sheet asphalt.

The five projects involved were: Vandeventer avenue, between Ashland and the alley south of Kennerly; Sidney street, between First and Broadway; Bates street, between Gravois and the Missouri Pacific tracks; Allen avenue, between Nebraska and Compton, and Copelin avenue, between Louisiana and Compton.

Two other stretches of Vandeventer avenue, between darket and Washington and between Enright and Easton, also were up for hearing, but the Board had proposed to use smooth-cut granite blocks there. However, the property owners requested sheet asphalt.

SAYS CITY COULD HAVE SAVED $600,000 BY USE OF UNPATENTED PAVING

THE Bureau of Municipal Research yesterday made public the following communication which it sent to city officials Dec. 13:

"During the six years from 1922 to 1928, property owners have been assessed more than $6,000,000 for construction of patented pavements. Had these pavements been laid at the average prices for the non-patented types, the property owners would have been saved approximately $600,000."

"The city's records do not show that the patented pavements, which cost more to construct, are any more economical to maintain or that they give any more years of service than the non-patented types."

"The members of both the Board of Public Service and the Board of Aldermen should be in a position to justify to the taxpayers the paving of streets with patented pavements without competition."

"The Bureau of Municipal Research suggests that either the patented pavements be discontinued or that they be required to be bid in competition with non-patented types."

Known Criminals Rounded Up. Eighty-eight persons known to the police were arrested in the city yesterday, and last night after Chief of Police Gerk had pointed out that recent police activities in Chicago had resulted in a general exodus of criminals.

Where office workers must spend hours constantly at their desks it is hard-headed economy to furnish them with comfortable chairs.

Correct posture seating fundamentally means fitting the chair to the body so that the worker sits naturally. The back is scientifically shaped to fit the natural curve of the spine and supports it at all times so that it carries the weight of

The Blunt Uncompromising Truth

If you will stop and study the situation for a moment, you will realize that the plainest and most outstanding fact in motoring today is that there are no other cars which can be classed with Cadillac and La Salle.

In braking, gear shifting, steering and all the operations of driving, either on mountain roads, or on level highways, or in city traffic, there are no other cars in the world that can compare with Cadillac and La Salle.

Thus Cadillac's position as the leader of the fine car group is an accepted fact that one would scarcely think of challenging and, in the minds of all, Cadillac is readily granted first place on the basis of prestige gained over a period of 25 years, the incomparable brilliance, smoothness, flexibility and reliability of its 90-degree, V-type, 8-cylinder engine, and its extraordinary value.

Safety and Control. But within recent months Cadillac and the Cadillac-built La Salle have forged ahead to such an extent that you may not realize how vastly their superiority over all other cars has been increased—especially from the viewpoint of safety and easy mastery of control.

Take these latter two points, which any one will quickly admit are of paramount importance in this day of high speed and congested traffic.

On no other cars can you find the Cadillac-La Salle Syncro-Mesh Silent-Shift Transmission which enables you to shift your gears at any speed, under any conditions, without awkwardness or the slightest hesitancy. The operation is almost instantaneous as well as clashless.

The foregoing represent safety features of the utmost importance, as is the improved steering mechanism, but there is also the crystal-clear, non-shatterable Cadillac-La Salle Security-Plate Glass. In the event of collision you will not be injured by flying glass fragments; neither will there be any danger from the impact of stones cast up by the wheels of passing cars.

These are some of the new facts to add to those you already know about Cadillac and La Salle. A car will be placed at your disposal at any time so that you can familiarize yourself with them. When you have done so your conviction will be stronger than ever that in all the world there are no cars like these.

In addition to 23 refreshingly beautiful Fisher Bodies for the new Cadillac and the new La Salle, there are 15 exclusive and exquisite custom-built models Fleetwood designed and Fleetwood built.

La Salle prices $2295 to $2875; Cadillac $3295 to $3995; Fleetwood up to $7000—all prices f. o. b. Detroit. Cadillac-La Salle dealers welcome business on the General Motors Deferred Payment Plan.

KONJOLA ENDED 4 YEARS MISERY: SAYS LOCAL MAN

Double Ailment Readily Yields to Amazing Merits of Advanced Compound; "I Praise It to All," He States.

What a wonderful thing it would be for all who suffer and who seek in vain for relief to know of the world of health and happiness there is in a brief treatment of this master medicine, Konjola. Those who are ill and who would be well again are invited to call on the Konjola Man, who is at the Walgreen Drug Store, 515 Olive street, St. Louis, where he is meeting the public daily, and hear his explanation of Konjola. He will tell you of the 32 ingredients contained in Konjola, of which 22 are the medicinal juices from roots and herbs. He will explain how this medicine goes to the source of the ailments and roots out disease at its very root. From him you will learn how it cures and strengthens the system, preparing it for the ever-welcome tenant—new, glorious and lasting health. What a world of hope and cheer there is for all sufferers in the many sincere statements of St. Louis people benefited by Konjola. Take, for instance, the report of Mr. P. M. Crum, 3842 Blaine Avenue, St. Louis, who made this remarkable statement about the work of Konjola in his case. To the Konjola Man, Mr. Crum said a few days ago:

"What a wonderful thing it is for suffering humanity to have Konjola within their beck and call. I praise this medicine to everyone because I know what it will do. I know it sounds unbelievable when I say that Konjola relieved me of four years suffering from stomach and liver troubles, but every word is the truth. Acid stomach caused my food to refuse to digest. There times a day I was forced to endure gas, bloating, belching spells when bits of foods rose into my mouth, and severe indigestion pains. My heart beat wildly; I was short of breath; indeed, meals held little pleasure for me. Besides this I lost my strength and energy—my liver became sluggish, bringing on dizzy spells when hundred of spots appeared before my eyes. You can see that my case was serious."

"Now for the most pleasant and yet the handsomest part of my state of mind, for I cannot find words expressive enough to praise Konjola. I started the treatment of this medicine little expecting relief. What a glorious surprise was in store for me. I gained fine results on two bottles. With strong faith I continued the course until everyone of my ailments vanished, just as chaff is driven before the wind. My system was cleansed, my organs were regulated and the various symptoms eliminated. Both my stomach and liver are working perfectly—just as Nature intends. New strength and energy are mine; new health an assured thing. Indeed, I know why Konjola is called the master medicine, the medicine with more than a million friends; it deserves fifty millions!"

You are under no obligation when you visit the Konjola Man. He did not come, primarily, to sell Konjola, but to acquaint all sufferers with its merit—to show them the glorious road to health—to eliminate suffering and pain. All he asks is the chance to let Konjola make you well.

The Konjola Man is at the Walgreen Drug Store, 515 Olive street, this city, where he is meeting the public daily, introducing and explaining the merits of this master medicine.

POSSE FIRES INTO AUTO, KILLS 6-YEAR-OLD GIRL

Officers Mistake Car Containing Child and Parents for Machine Sought.

By the Associated Press.

SEDALIA, Mo., Jan. 23.—Elinor Herigan, 6 years old, daughter of Phillip Herigan of Montrose, Mo., was instantly killed late yesterday when members of a posse searching for an automobile, fired several times at the Herigan machine at Windsor, Mo. Other occupants, including the child's parents, an aunt and a 3-year-old brother were not injured. The girl was hit twice.

A coroner's jury returned a verdict that the girl died from gun-shot wounds inflicted by Deputy Constable T. G. Hall of Windsor, or members of his posse while attempting to make an arrest. The posse included R. K. Palmer, Lee Duff, Harvey Majors, John Will Piper and a man named Frazier.

Hall had received information from Dalton Davis, a farmer, living two miles south of Windsor, that he overheard three men talking near his farm, one saying, "I tell you the man was shot. What'll we do?"

Hall notified Sheriff A. W. Kahan at Clinton and the two squads started to Calhoun, toward which place Davis said the men he had overheard had gone. Falling to find the automobile the posse returned home. Sheriff Kahan later telephoned Hall the car had been seen in Calhoun, headed toward Windsor. Hall reorganized his posse and waited for the automobile. When the car containing the Herigan family came along and failed to stop, members of the posse fired.

Herigan said he did not obey the command to stop because he feared it was a holdup. He was on his way to Meta, Mo., where he expected to move from Montrose.

HALEY TO INVESTIGATE RAIDS ILLEGALLY MADE

Eight Cases Dismissed Recently Because Agents Had No Search Warrants.

Prohibition Administrator Haley announced yesterday that he would investigate recent raids by Federal prohibition agents without search warrants, resulting in the defendants being discharged by Commissioner Atkins because the searches are "obviously illegal."

Eight defendants have been released by Atkins in the last two weeks, following preliminary hearings at which the methods of the agents were attacked. Assistant District Attorney Hapke, in charge of the prosecutions, has moved most of the discharges.

Two defendants, Mrs. Goldie Brockman of Valley Park and Leroy Purdy, 624 N. Kingshighway, were discharged yesterday, for lack of search warrants.

FLYER HITS A FREIGHT, TWO TRAINMEN KILLED

Illinois Central's Crack "Floridian" in Wreck South of Mounds, Ill.

By the Associated Press.
MOUNDS, Ill., Jan. 23.—Two trainmen were killed, two were injured and several passengers suffered minor injuries when the Floridian, fast Illinois Central passenger train from Chicago to Florida, crashed into a freight train one mile south of here last night.

The dead:
Leo Wellington, 50 years old, Paducah, Ky., engineer on the freight.

Milton Johnson, Negro, Paducah, brakeman on the freight.

The injured taken to a hospital are Joe Grasty, 25, Paducah, fireman on the freight, who suffered a broken leg, and L. W. Worley, Centralia, Ill., traveling engineer who was riding on the passenger locomotive.

The accident occurred when the passenger train, 20 minutes late, struck the freight as it pulled off a siding onto the main line, the crew thinking the Floridian had passed. The engine of the passenger train went into the ditch and several coaches of the all-Pullman train left the rails, but remained upright.

The accident occurred shortly before 11 o'clock. The engine tender and first freight car of the freight train had moved on to the main tracks when the Floridian struck it. The freight car was buried into the ditch and the freight locomotive was knocked sideways on the tracks.

A special train with doctors was sent from Cairo, but few of the passengers needed medical attention. Another train was made up to take care of the passengers.

BILL WOULD PREVENT ST. LOUIS SUPPLYING WATER TO COUNTY

Senator Ralph Introduces Measure to Make Certificate of Necessity Obligatory.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 23.—A measure which if enacted into law would hamper and possibly prevent St. Louis County communities from obtaining water from the new St. Louis water plant was offered in the Senate today by Senator Ralph of St. Louis County.

The Ralph bill seeks to prohibit any municipality from furnishing water, gas or electricity outside its corporate limits unless it first shall have obtained a certificate of convenience and necessity from the Public Service Commission. There is a stipulation that the commission shall have authority to issue the certificate if it shall find after a hearing that such service is necessary or convenient. The commission is authorized to impose such conditions as it considers reasonable or necessary.

Much of St. Louis County now is served by the St. Louis County Water Co. Any community, person or industry which became dissatisfied with the service and desired service from the water plant of St. Louis would be compelled first to obtain the passage of an ordinance in St. Louis requesting the certificate from the Public Service Commission, and then the commission would in effect be compelled to find that the service could not be supplied by the county company. The practical effect of the measure would be to prevent the City of St. Louis from selling water in the county.

UNITED STATES TO ENTER TEAM IN WORLD SOCCER SERIES IN 1930

COMPETITION TO BE HELD ABROAD OPEN TO "PROS" AND AMATEURS

Cant Please Everybody.

SEE in Chicago they're raiding wholesale. The hijacker, gunman and thief; With half of the populace lying in jail, The balance will breathe with relief.

The people, when gunmen have passed from the scene, Their iron-clad weskits can shuck. And return to their business all calm and serene— But the florists will be out of luck.

And the pineapple bombs will no longer explode Spreading death, devastation and wreck; But to the mortician with whom they once rode It will give quite a pain in the neck.

There Goes Another Governor!
"Oklahoma Senate Suspends Governor."

Seems as though the State where the oil comes from is always greasing the skids for the Governor.

It was also decided by the committee that the United States Football Association to be held at Madison on May 17 and 18 next, when all arrangements for the conduct of the Universal tournament will be completed.

A trophy will be awarded to the country winning the final in 1930. Should the entry list, which will close on Jan. 1, 1930, exceed 32 teams, a preliminary round will be arranged. The entrance fee will be $100.

President Patterson, when asked concerning the split between the United States Football Association and the American Soccer League, said that his organization was standing pat and had taken no action in the direction of peace. Official notice of the severance of relations of course, were sent to the federations abroad with which the United States Football Association is affiliated.

If, when the league sees fit to seek reinstatement, then according to Patterson, it will be time enough to take the matter under consideration. A house cleaning for soccer in this country he said, was inevitable and would be a gain if certain elements were permitted to prevail.

LAYTON TRAILS WILLIE HOPPE IN ANGLE MATCH

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—Willie Hoppe, former balkline champion, led Johnny Layton, world's three-cushion littleholder, by the count margin of a point at the end of the fourth block of their 400-point three-cushion match which is now being decided at the Strand Academy.

Hoppe entered the third block yesterday afternoon with a lead of 14 points, but Layton, playing at his best, defeated Willie, 74 to 42, and took the lead. After a bitter tussle at night, Hoppe beat the champion, 58 to 49, and is leading again, 200 to 189.

In the afternoon, with the score tied in the thirty-first inning, Layton started on a run that did not end until he had made 10 points. Gradually he drew away from Hoppe and finally took the lead in the fifth inning with a run of three.

The night game lasted 80 innings. This was due to the fact that both players resorted to much safety playing. Layton's high run was six and Hoppe's four.

American League Clubs To Try Out 89 Rookies At 1929 Spring Camps

By Herman Wecke.

That major league scouts still watch the batting averages when on the trail of new talent is deduced from the swat marks of the 57 newcomers, exclusive of pitchers, who will strive for berths with the American League clubs the coming spring. These figures bring out the fact that of this number, 44 hit for averages of .300 or better, while four others were at .290 or better. From which it can be seen that a select circle swat mark is the surest way to advancement to the big tent.

And the Browns followed the example of the other teams. For instance, nine players, pitchers excluded, will try for berths and is hit better than .300 in the minors. This list includes: Dondre, second baseman, .373; Jenkins, outfielder, .343; Badroe, outfielder, .324; Grimes, third baseman, .324; Forster, catcher, .323; and Stanton, first sacker, .300. The exceptions were Roetz, .267; Danning, .255; and Johnson, .239.

Pitchers with 20 or more victories also were in demand, inasmuch as 12 of the 32 brought up captured that number of contests.

New men brought up by the Browns ranked well in this respect.

There was Kinsey, who had a 23-7, .767 record; Jonnard, 20-11, and Buivid, 21-11. Kinsey, incidentally, ranked second among the twirlers brought up from the minors by the A. A. clubs in winning percentage.

The only man who was ahead of him was Liska, who goes to the Senators, and who had a wonderful record of 29 victories against but 4 defeats with the Minneapolis (American Association) club in 1928.

Veteran to John Browns.

In addition to the three already named, two other twirlers will try out with the Browns. "Rip" Collins, up before, has a 17-9, .54 record with Toronto; Cobb, Wichita Falls, 14-7, .667, while Estrada, from Shreveport, won 14 and dropped 12.

In the list of new players who will try for positions in the majors are several who won minor league batting titles. For instance, Dale Alexander, who will try for the first base job with the Tigers, paced the International with .335.

Dorman, from Tyler, who goes to the Indians, paced the Leaguer with .408.

AMERICAN LEAGUE CLUBS TO TRY OUT 89 ROOKIES AT 1929 SPRING CAMPS

By Herman Wecke.

That major league scouts still watch the batting averages when on the trail of new talent is deduced from the swat marks of the 57 newcomers, exclusive of pitchers, who will strive for berths with the American League clubs the coming spring. These figures bring out the fact that of this number, 44 hit for averages of .300 or better, while four others were at .290 or better. From which it can be seen that a select circle swat mark is the surest way to advancement to the big tent.

And the Browns followed the example of the other teams. For instance, nine players, pitchers excluded, will try for berths and is hit better than .300 in the minors. This list includes: Dondre, second baseman, .373; Jenkins, outfielder, .343; Badroe, outfielder, .324; Grimes, third baseman, .324; Forster, catcher, .323; and Stanton, first s

FOUR SCHOOL TEAMS HARD HIT BY GRADUATION

By Harold Tuthill

It is certain that there will be many changes in the City High School basketball teams' opening lineups this week since seven regulars will be lost to four of the five schools by graduation or for other reasons. Central will be hit hardest, losing Sibley, a forward and Harvey and Marquardt, guards.

The significant facts about the loss of the veterans are that four of the seven are forwards and that two of the latter quartet are among the first three in the scoring column. A third member of the returning group of front line players, Brown of Beaumont scored six field goals in the two games played.

Although Roosevelt only loses one player, Bob "Kuby" Kessler, it loses its best floor man and most accurate shot. Kessler reached second place in the scoring column last week, with a total of 26 points, three points behind Charlie Bailey, his running mate. Kessler participated in the three conference games and counted 11 times from the floor, one more than Sibley who was third among the high scorers with 23 points.

Beaumont Hard Hit.
Beaumont will have a difficult task to find capable substitutes for Brown and Krueger, both of whom were lost to the squad at the end of this semester. Krueger will move shortly with his family for New York where he plans to make his home. Brown, who was one of the tallest players in the league, was literally a tower of strength for Beaumont under defending baskets, as Holtman and Schwandt, the guards, were too small to combat the attempts of opposing teams' follow-in shots.

St. Viator's tight defense and smooth winning attack, limited Billiken setups and a fair percentage of the local team's goals were from long range. The St. Louis players were not in their best shooting form and their own defense was not quite good enough to stop O'Malley, red-haired pivot man of the visitors, although Evard, the team's leading scorer, was checked by Jack Joyce until the latter was replaced late in the game.

Bills Never Close.
After the first few minutes of the game, the Billikens never came close enough to make a serious threat but the crowd of 1200 persons found numerous occasions to applaud neatly executed plays by the visiting team and several flashes of the Strong and Oldfield combination.

St. Viator did not show a weakness at any position but its superiority at center was clear enough. Lyle Drury had too much room to account for O'Malley, a clever ball handler and an excellent shot. O'Malley led the scoring for the visitors with a total of 15 points and several of his field goals were dropped in one hand.

Free Throws Are Missed.
Strong and Oldfield scored four field goals that gave St. Louis eight points to St. Viator's 15 at the half. During the first period, the Billikens missed five opportunities to tally on free throws. Les Hunt dropped in one of his long range attempts as the second half opened but the Billikens failed to score another field goal until the visitors had run up a lead of 25-11. Ham Strong, after the locals had failed to penetrate the visitors' defense, dropped in another long one and accounted for all of the remaining Billiken points with the exception of Les Roberts' free throw. Evard, O'Malley and DeLaney boosted the St. Viator total to 33 in the meanwhile.

St. Louis' record now includes seven victories and three defeats. St. Xavier, another strong team, plays at the Billiken gymnasium Saturday night.

Simpson Will Start Regular Five Tonight

The St. Viator College basketball team will finish its third victory in as many evenings when it faces Concordia Seminary tonight at the St. Louis University gymnasium. The game will start at 8:30 p. m.

Coch Eber Simpson, who has started the Concordia second team in all of the team's games so far, probably will use his regulars from the outset tonight, in an effort to turn back the visitors. Schmidt and Ruppert have shown up as the best of the forwards, with Dau and Frerking their understudies. Westel stands out at center. The Guards probably will be occupied by Capt. Mehl and Dobelstein.

The probable lineups:

Concordia. Pos. St. Viator. Ruppert, R. F. Evard. Schmidt, L. F. Romary. Westel, C. O'Malley. Dobelstein, R. G. Cochrane. DeLaney (C.) L. G. DeLaney (C.)

ROLLA WELLS NEW U. S. RESERVE CHAIRMAN

Former Mayor Succeeds William McC. Martin, Who Has Become Governor.

Rolla Wells, former Mayor of St. Louis and receiver of the old United Railways, has been appointed chairman of the board and Federal Reserve agent of the Federal Reserve Bank of St. Louis, to succeed William McC. Martin, who recently resigned to accept the governorship of the state.

Wells has been connected with the Federal Reserve Bank of St. Louis from its inception. He served as governor from its opening, Nov. 16, 1914, until Feb. 5, 1918. On April 4, 1919, he was elected a director and has since been serving in that capacity.

The positions of Wells and Martin are now reversed, Martin having been chairman while Wells was governor.

The governor is elected by the Board of Directors of the bank and is the executive officer, in charge of operations. His position corresponds to the presidency in a private bank. The chairman of the board is appointed by the Federal Reserve Board in Washington. He presides at meetings of the Board of Directors and has a great deal to do with the policies of the bank.

BRIDGE As Played by EXPERTS

ELEVENTH GAME.

SEVERAL very interesting points in bridge bidding and play were brought out in yesterday's radio bridge game, broadcast from station KSL. Mrs. Virginia Tubbs of Chicago and Mr. F. E. Bruehlleide of Minneapolis were partners of Mr. Work and Mr. Whitehead. These were the hands:

Mr. Work, South; Dealer; Spades A, Q, 10, 9, 5; Hearts K, 4; Diamonds A, 10, 7, 6, 2; Clubs 3, Mr. Whitehead, West; Spades K, J, 3; Hearts A, J, 7, 6; Diamonds J, 4; Clubs K, 10, 7, 5; Mrs. Tubbs, North; Spades T, 6, 4; Hearts Q, 8; Diamonds K, Q, 9, 5, 3; Clubs A, 9, 4; Mr. Bruehlleide, East; Spades 8, 2; Hearts 10, 9, 5, 6; Diamonds 8; Clubs Q, J, 8, 6, 2.

Holding a good two-suiter, Mr. Work, South, opened the auction by calling one Spade, the higher-valued of his two suits. Mr. Whitehead, West, had two possible declarations: One No Trump, or Double. He preferred the informatory double, as the surest way to discover the bid which best suited his partner. If the latter responded with Hearts, Mr. Whitehead could assist the bid. A Diamond bid from his partner would make Mr. Whitehead safe in No Trumps. If Clubs were the answer, Mr. Whitehead would rest content.

After Mr. Whitehead's double of South's Spade, Mrs. Tubbs, North, passed. In response to the double, Mr. Bruehlleide, East, said two Hearts, although his Club suit was stronger. As an informatory double always should be construed as an effort to arrive at a game-going bid, the preferable answer always is a Major suit or No Trump. When one Major is doubled the inference is clear that the doubler is anxious for the other Major. Therefore if partner holds at least four cards of the other Major he should name that suit rather than a Minor, even though the Minor be both longer and stronger.

Mr. Work, South, said three Diamonds, seizing his first opportunity to show the two-suited character of his hand. Mr. Whitehead, West, went to three Hearts. Although he realized that his partner might have a very weak hand, he was sure that he held at least four Hearts. Mr. Whitehead's own strength in Hearts, his doubleton in Diamonds, and his Spade holding amply justified the assist.

Mrs. Tubbs, North, bid four Diamonds. Although she held normal support for the Spades, her Diamonds were so much longer and stronger than she felt game at Diamonds was much more probable than game at Spades. It was possible that her partner, following the correct procedure of bidding the higher-valued suit of a two-suiter first, had started by bidding a four-card Major, and then had bid a five-card Minor. Since South surely had as many Diamonds as Spades . . . possibly one more Diamond than Spade . . . and as North was so much longer and stronger in Diamonds, the latter suit clearly was the one for North to assist.

After Mrs. Tubbs' Diamond assist, all passed. Mr. Work, South, became Declarer, with his contract four Diamonds, and Mr. Whitehead, West, had the original lead, for which he correctly chose his Ace of Hearts. From Mrs. Tubbs' hand, which was then spread as Dummy, Mr. Work, Declarer, played the eight of Hearts. Mr. Bruehlleide, East, played the discouraging 2. This discouraging card plainly informed his partner, Mr. Whitehead, that Mr. Bruehlleide did not hold the King.

Mr. Work, Declarer, before taking a card from his own hand, determined upon his plan of play. Having decided that the Queen of Hearts in Dummy would be more useful as an entry than the King of Hearts in his own hand, he played the latter to the trick.

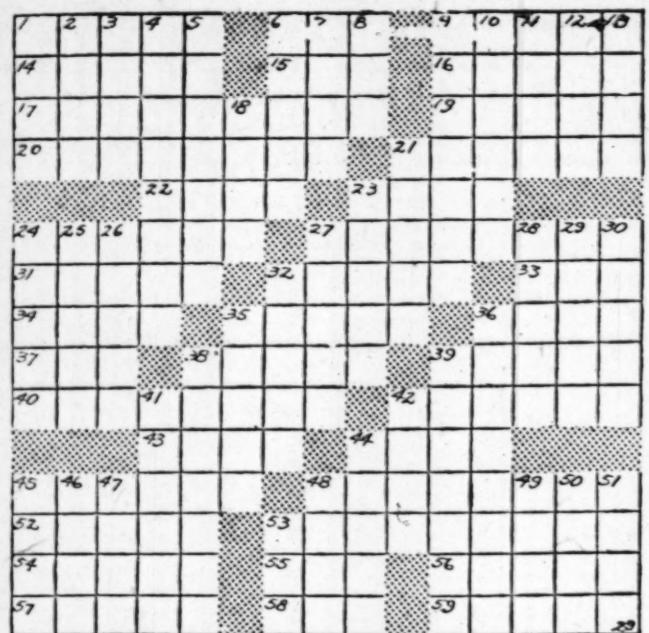

Mr. Whitehead, West, having noted his partner's play of the 2 to the first trick, interpreted it merely as an indication that his partner did not hold the King, rather than as an invitation to shift suits. Since Declarer evidently could make Dummy's Queen of Hearts at his convenience, and since Mr. Whitehead, by a 7 to 10 to Spades or Clubs, might readily lose a trick in the suit led, Mr. Whitehead continued with Hearts, leading the 6. Dummy played the Queen of Hearts; Mr. Bruehlleide the 4.

Declarer's two hands were then exhausted of Hearts: he also planned to eliminate Clubs, after which, by an end play, he could force the lead of a Spade from an adversary, thus limiting his loss in Spades to one trick. This one Spade trick added to the Ace of Hearts already taken by adversaries, would still give Declarer game.

Therefore Declarer started the Club elimination by leading Dummy's Ace of Clubs; Mr. Bruehlleide played the 2; Declarer his lone 3; Mr. Whitehead the 5. Dummy continued with the 4 of Clubs; Mr. Whitehead played the 7 of Clubs. Declarer next led the 2 of Diamonds to put Dummy in for another Club lead and incidentally to reduce the "adversaries'" trumps. Mr. Whitehead played the 10 of Diamonds; Dummy the King; Mr. Bruehlleide the 8. Declarer then led Dummy's last Club, the 9; Mr. Bruehlleide played the 8; Declarer trumped with the Ace of Diamonds; Mr. Whitehead played the 10 of Clubs.

Hearts and Clubs were now eliminated from Declarer's two hands. Accordingly he led the 6 of Diamonds to draw the adversaries' last trump and put Dummy in for a Spade lead. Mr. Whitehead

WHY BLACK PUSSY FAILED

All kittens should this truth be taught:
No mouse is eaten till it's caught.

—Black Pussy.

* * *

LACE Pussy, Farmer Brown's

Cat, dearly loves to hunt mice and birds. In other words, she dearly loves to hunt. It isn't that she needs them or wants them for food. It is for the pleasure of hunting them. Now, in winter, there is very little hunting for

Black Pussy, excepting in Farmer

Brown's barn. So she goes out to Farmer Brown's barn every day to hunt for mice and young rats. Both rats and mice are almost always to be found in almost any barn. That is because there is always food

there in the way of grain, and heat draft and injure the grate.

To obtain good service from a range it must be kept in repair.

Missing patches of lining or broken and warped grates will admit air, and dampers that do not work properly tend toward fuel and heat waste.

Wise management of a stove demands a thorough knowledge of the use of each damper. There is the damper which controls the burning of the fuel. This is just above the fire and should be closed when starting the fire; open it partly when the fire burns well.

The lower damper in the ashpit door is intended to furnish air from below and to consume the gases.

Open when starting a fire but do not open to supply draft, as it will admit more air than the fire needs and much of the heat goes out the chimney.

By means of the stovepipe damper

you regulate the rate at which the hot air travels up the chimney.

Open when starting the fire and keep closed while fire burns satisfactorily.

So, crouching close to the floor,

Black Pussy stole forward very very slowly and very, very carefully.

Only when the young rat's head was turned the other way did she move and then only for a step.

Her yellow eyes glowed with eagerness.

Little by little, little by little, she crept nearer and nearer.

The young rat did not notice her.

He was too busy stuffing himself with spilled grain. At last, Black Pussy was almost within jumping distance.

If she could just creep just a step or two nearer she would be where she could spring on that young rat before he could reach the safety of that hole.

"That fellow is mine," thought

Black Pussy. "He can't get away from me. In just a minute now I'll have him."

She strolled forward another step.

Then, gradually, she drew her hind feet under her and prepared to spring. Just as she was going to spring that rat disappeared.

Yes, sir, that young rat disappeared.

He disappeared right up in the dusk of the upper part of the barn. Black Pussy was so astonished that for a moment or two she didn't move.

She simply stared up, as if she couldn't believe what she saw.

What she saw was the shadowy outline of a bird and, hanging below it, was the young rat she had been so sure of. It had been taken from right under her very nose. Then bird and rat disappeared above the rafters.

You'd probably get a table in the checkroom.

Mr. Graham: So I heard. (Aside)

Mrs. Quigley: They had Eddie Cantor and Whitman's orchestra the first week. (Aside) If you ever hear either of them.

Mr. Graham: Whitman's orchestra played at the Palace a couple of weeks ago. (Aside) I'll bet your husband was an arsenic tippler.

Mrs. Quigley (Aside): You would know what was at the Palace. (Not aside) I love their music to dance to.

Mr. Graham: It must be wonderful. (Aside) You haven't danced since the mazurka was risqué.

Mrs. Quigley: This next act's in another room in the same house. Changing the scene makes the intermission longer.

Mr. Graham: It hasn't seemed long. (Not aside) The curtain's going up now.

The Modern Bathroom

REGARDLESS of the general furnishings of the house, the bathroom may affect quite modern and have a futuristic bath mat of coral chenille with splashes of green, mauve and burgundy. Then there will be a shower curtain of coral moire, glass curtains of pale green picking up the note of green in the rug and modernistic accessories for the color scheme may be almost anything one desires.

A most convenient arrangement for the glass curtains in the bathroom is the double-tiered effect using one full curtain from the top of the window to the middle sash, and another from the sash to the floor. This permits better ventilation and insures privacy—and it is a good idea to weight the hem of bathroom curtains to prevent them from billowing back and forth with every breeze.

Chicken Chow Mein

Here is a recipe for this delicious Chinese dish that we have all enjoyed so much in Chinese restaurants. Fry one package of the noodles in deep fat until brown. Cut one pound cooked chicken in thin strips and cook for five minutes in two tablespoons olive oil. Add one teaspoon corn starch and one cup chicken stock and simmer for three minutes. In another frying pan put two tablespoons olive oil, two large minced onions and cook for three minutes. Add one bunch of celery cut into fine shreds two inches long, one-fourth pound shredded mushrooms and cook for three minutes. Combine the two mixtures and pour over fried noodles. Garnish with a row of walnuts that have been fried in butter one minute, fine shreds of noodles and a sprig of white meat of chicken.

LIGHTS AND SHADOWS OF LIFE IN THE RENO DIVORCE COLONY

Just What the Mecca of the Mismated Is Like, as Grace Hegger Lewis Experienced It in Living There Three Months to Win Freedom From Sinclair Lewis.

By MARGUERITE MARTYN.

CHEERING article on life in the divorce colony at Rena has been written by the former wife of Sinclair Lewis and published in Scribner's January number. Upon his release from his first wife, it will be remembered, the famous novelist married Dorothy Thompson, newspaper correspondent whom he met on an airplane flight in Europe.

Drawn from personal experience, Grace Hegger Lewis' article is poignant in spots, as a sensitive woman is seen to adjust herself to circumstances inevitably painful, but otherwise it is full of practical information, hope and good cheer to those who face with indecision and dread a similar situation.

She picks up an interest in her strange surroundings; she finds much to solace and even amusement. Of how the divorce seekers spend the three months required for establishing the legal residence of the common bond which establishes a spirit of comradeship among people of differing social antecedents, of sight seeing around Reno, best methods of living in exile, pastimes and procedures incident to the final deal, she writes under the title "Just What Is Reno Like?" With some deft touches she sketches the picture and a sense of humor the author of Main Street might have done well to assimilate from his ex-wife.

In the social life she finds a resemblance to that at a European spa. "You are there for the cure, but instead of asking 'who is your doctor?' you inquire 'who is your lawyer?' Then, 'how long have you been here?' Where are you staying? Do you feel the altitude? Are you sleeping well? Have you an appetite? Where are the best restaurants? Can you get a decent shingle? How do you amuse yourself? Is there any night life?"

"No father confessor listens to greater intimacies than do the hairdressers and masseuses. And before your three months are up you, in turn, will be the repository of the marital secrets of those who serve you. Bellboys and telephone operators, room-service waiters, as well as housemaids, may be three-month job holders, and if you are sympathetic you will hear their stories, too."

Differing from that other Main street her famous husband made us familiar with, it is interesting to note that Mrs. Lewis found, "this particular West at least has a real democracy which is only vaguely concerned with social distinctions. A garage assistant may be the best golf player at the country club. At the most fashionable night club you will find yourself playing roulette beside your hairdresser. We had our favorite waiter at one of the cafes. After a few weeks of his service we had our little family jokes. He was a man of 60, a deaf waiter and so thoughtful. One evening he said to a charming woman whose husband was a great banker: 'Just think of me talking to you like this in the East. It wouldn't have been possible, and that's why I came out here and why I stayed. I'm a man here. I wasn't in the East.'

When finally the day of departure comes a gala event is made of seeing the released one off. "Pleasant journey! Better luck next time" they bid you godspeed. Corse bouquets are not needed to singe out the lucky ones. • • • Someone on the platform dances up and down and waves her arms. "See you in a week. Just one more week." Another looks rather near tears—two months seem very far away. A strange railway station. Said someone with sardonic pleasure: "You come in with the tide and go out with the united."

On divorce procedure she advises:

"See your lawyer first of all. Fees are laid and doubts removed and time saved, and the casualness with which he treats what to you has been a solitary and tragic instance makes you feel consolingly commonplace.

Then of the final ordeal:

"If your apartment is on the courthouse side, to you, in your moribund state when you arrive, it seems like living in death-row with your eyes always on the death chamber. Then Monday, Divorce day, rolls around.

"You wake up to see an unusually long line of cars parked at an angle on both sides the broad street. Groups of two or three women are seen ascending the courthouse steps, the nervous one is plaintiff, the others a friend and the landlady who must swear to the fact that the plaintiff has been residing under her roof for the full three months.

"The average uncontested case takes no more than 15 minutes. It is one of the sources of amusement in Reno to attend court Monday morning, but the first time you witness the simplicity with which an uncontested case is conducted and the speed with which it is dismissed, you think: 'Is it possible that this is the culmination of months, years of misery and wracking indecision and of the nervous fears of the last 90 days?' Later on Monday morning the same groups come down the courthouse steps, usually smiling, even hysterically laughing, and often accompanied by a future husband."

The three-months divorce law has been in operation less than two years, and it is still a matter of discussion as to whether the State is satisfied or will seek to bring back the six months requirement.

"Since the law has gone into effect, the number of cases has more than doubled, and as Paris is increasingly regarded as a City of Doubt for divorcing aliens, there is no reason to believe that Nevada will repeal," Mrs. Lewis concludes.

THE HUMAN BODY

By Dr. Logan Clendening.

PREVENTION BY REGULATION.

A very dear friend of mine, a man of decided opinions, used to say that to be sick was a reflection on a man's intelligence. What he meant was plain enough. He himself led one of the most carefully regulated and abstemious lives I ever knew.

He always went to bed at 10:30. He always took at least an hour's outdoor exercise winter and summer, and often more. The exercise was not excessive, walking, playing golf or occasionally horseback riding. In his eating and drinking he was so abstemious as to be almost ascetic. He enjoyed smoking but indulged moderately. For the last 12 years of his life he went to a physician every six months for a complete examination.

About a year and a half before his death his physician found his blood pressure had jumped up 100 points, and that there was evidence his kidneys were impaired. A thorough search failed to reveal any cause for this. His teeth were among the finest I ever saw in a person of his age; his tonsils had long since been removed. He presented the outward appearance of a man of 30. The physician did not say anything to my friend about it because he had no advice to offer; the man's way of life was as carefully regulated as any life could be.

A year later my friend went blind from albinominic retinitis, a change in the eye arising from kidney disease, signs of heart failure soon set in and six months later his sufferings were mercifully ended by a fatal stroke of apoplexy. He was 54.

During the period of his failing vision he talked to me. He said he guessed a man could not buck the processes of nature; his father had died the same way and he supposed it was because his father did not take care of himself. He had learned one great lesson in his gradually increasing dark: that nature was remorseless and nature was merciless.

One of the most frequent remarks I hear nowadays goes something like this:

"If you doctors would only tell us how to prevent disease, instead

Two Piece Costumes Trying a Comeback

TWO-PIECE jumper suits, which were given the official farewell in inner style circles of Paris a few months ago, are showing signs of coming back.

At least one style maker is pushing two piece dresses in the special collection his house sends to Monte Carlo. This collection repeats the two piece jumper style many times.

Absolutely straight silhouettes also are an obvious point of this special style collection. Pleated skirts and straight jumpers of the same material appear in many models.

Light beige mixtures are used for the majority of the revived two-piece dresses. Skirts are tight around the hips with pleats usually beginning from six to 12 inches below a plain band. The dresses are belted just above the hip.

Coats for wear over these costumes are of beige wool or tweed mixtures cut on straight lines. Most of them have fur collars, usually of beige fox. Some of the new collars have a backward flare and are wide and upstanding around the face.

A century. Nothing ever interested me quite so much as this subject. The result of all my study is that there is no one way of life in the physical world any more than there is in the spiritual.

I am fully aware that such expressions are not calculated to be popular or acceptable. Most people would like to believe that there is a single certain way of doing things which is better than any other.

I have lived in the world nearly half a century and I have practiced medicine nearly a quarter of the century.

It's the greatest thing on earth! The sense of satisfaction that comes when you know you've always given your children the best! That's the way mothers have felt for over thirty years who've used Fletcher's Castoria to keep their babies and children well and happy; free from those common ailments, such as colic, gas, diarrhea, constipation, etc.

Millions of mothers know Fletcher's Castoria is dependable. Leading physicians recommend it. It's pleasant-tasting; a pure vegetable preparation. It's safe for infants. It will comfort a restless, crying youngster in a jiffy. It keeps little bowels from clogging during a cold. Until your child is grown, use it to keep his bowels regular, assist the digestion, improve the appetite. To get genuine Castoria, always see that the wrapper bears the signature of its originator—Chas. H. Fletcher.

INSTALLMENT XXXVI.

FOILING A DESPERATE PLOT.

MARTIN obeyed, walking backward and keeping his eye on his late antagonist. He stooped down, reached the pistol, and jerked it over the wall in a slanting direction. The man nodded approvingly.

"You're a good scrapper," said he. "Op it off 'ome."

He turned toward his fallen companion. Martin was by Laurita's side in a moment. She was clinging to the railing and seemed incapable of further movement. He caught her up in his arms with a backward glance of apprehension.

Once more he ran. Tighter and tighter Laurita's arms were clasped around his neck. Her soft cheeks were pressed to his. Her lips repeatedly brushed his eyes, his lips. Twice he paused to look behind. There was no sign of any pursuit. Presently he heard the purring of an engine, the grinding of gears, and the sound of a car in movement along the road which bordered the park. He drew a deep breath of immense relief.

"They're off!" he exclaimed.

Laurita said nothing. Her eyes were half closed. Suddenly she began to sob. She raised herself as he slackened his pace, her arms almost strangling him, her body straining to his.

"Martin!" she faltered.

A ridge of cloud had floated across the moon, and the fragments of a storm brought wind which bent the tops of the trees by their sides and great drops of rain which beat into their faces.

In the sudden darkness her lips found his and clung there passionately. Her arms almost choked him. The clasp of her body was wild evidence of the hysteria which was raging within her. Before him was an open door and a line of flaming lights. He staggered up on to the terrace with a little sob of thankfulness.

THE MORNING AFTER. PERHAPS the greatest surprise of these exciting days came the next morning to Martin and Lord Ardington out of a clear sky without any sort of warning, a happening so incredible that at first they could scarcely trust their own eyes. The Sergeant of Police had departed, pompous and greatly excited, with a pocketbook full of unintelligible notes. Blanche had gone out to see Laurita, who was reported to be still sleeping. Martin, with a bandage on his head and one arm in a sling, was stretched in an easy chair in a sunny corner of the terrace, and his host was lounging by his side. The sound of approaching footsteps caused the latter, and Martin afterward, to raise their heads. It was unbelievable but true. Unannounced by any servant, without any indication of the manner by which they made their entrance, Solomon Graunt and Victor Porle, with a stranger between them, were approaching along the terrace.

"Bless my soul!" Lord Ardington gasped.

Martin sat up in his chair. He could find no words. Together they watched the visitors. Mr. Solomon Graunt was wearing a gray tweed suit, brown shoes and a bowler hat. He was very spic-and-span and very self-assured. His gait indeed, was almost jaunty. Next to him walked a man of medium height, dressed in sober black with a face of legal type, wearing horn-rimmed spectacles and carrying an attache case. On his other side was Victor Porle, also carefully dressed in blue serge with tie and collar faultlessly chosen chamois leather gloves and a Malacca cane. His long, olive-complexioned face was more desolate than ever of any color except where the thin line from an ancient scar flamed a little on his left cheek.

"What a nerve!" Lord Ardington muttered. "And how the devil did they get in?"

The same way as last night, I expect," Martin replied. "They must have got a wax impression and had keys made to one of the postern gates. After all, that wasn't difficult, but that they should have come here—this morning! They ought to have been hiding from the police."

The three men were now within greeting distance. Victor Porle and Solomon Graunt raised their hats. Neither made any attempt to shake hands. Victor Porle, completely at his ease, took charge of the situation.

"Ardington," he announced, "I have come to you a more or less formal visit. I have ventured to bring with me my legal adviser, Mr. Maurice Rosen—Lord Ardington."

The former raised his hat; the latter responded.

"You have already received a letter," Porle continued, "from the firm in which my friend Mr. Rosen is a partner. You are therefore prepared for the formal demand I am here to make."

Lord Ardington glanced upward at the row of opened windows.

"Business of this importance," he suggested, rising to his feet, "had better be conducted in my study. Will you follow me, gentlemen?"

He led the way into the smaller apartment where he spent most of his days, immediately below his upstairs sitting room, and pointed to chairs. The three visitors seated

Women Win Way In British Civil Service

BRITISH women have invaded the civil service, a profession hitherto considered the traditional monopoly of men.

At the first examination thrown open to both sexes, in which 600 candidates competed for 87 coveted executive positions in Government offices, 28 women have been successful. One won second place and another fourth. Several others were high.

The positions for which these women have qualified include, besides the general executive posts, all the principal departments of the Government, those in the defense departments, auditorship in the exchequer and audit departments and examinerships in the estate duty office of the inland revenue.

This executive group of positions was created out of the old second division, which formerly provided careers for sons of middle-class families, but with salaries and general conditions of service greatly improved. It now ranks next to Class I, the highest grade in the service, and entails a stiff examination. Salaries reach $1500 a year exclusive of large bonuses.

The Indian civil service, to a diplomatic service and the consular service are now the only important British Government services still closed to women. Only a few weeks ago several women were appointed income tax inspectors, and the new assistant principal at the ministry of transport is a woman.

Don't forget grated young carrots in your vegetable salad. They add flavor, nutriment and attractiveness to the salad.
